“ My sincerest condolences to Miss Ann's family and friends. In December of 2014, my family and I were blessed to have met Miss Ann. On our way to WDW in Orlando, we had a 4 hour layover in Atlanta Georgia. I made arrangements to rent a car. The plan was to be the first customers that day, order a ghetto burger to go and eat it at the airport. The day before our flight, I called and spoke with Miss Ann. I explained how long I'd been wanting to meet her and about our layover the next day. I requested her first ghetto burger for the next morning. Very sweetly she replied I can accommodate you and your party. The next morning our plane landed early. We rented the car and found her place by 9:30 am. She wasn't scheduled to open until 11:00 am. She and her crew arrived a few minutes later. By 10:00 am she opened her doors for us to come in and start our order. There were five of us, and unaware my husband had ordered two ghetto burgers, I sat at her counter and spoke with her while they were being prepared. I was in heaven. Such a sweet woman. We exchanged various stories that morning. I loved her deeply. She was an incredible role model and an extremely courageous women. I will cherish my memories of her for the rest of my life! Rest in peace Miss Ann.

“ I lived in Kirkwood in 2005/2006. One of my best friends introduced me to Ms. Ann when we started eating there after work. I instantly loved her. Each time I visit Atlanta I take friends to eat at the Snack Shack because I truly loved Ms. Ann and her fine burgers. Thankfully I visited Atlanta a few months ago and introduced my partner to Ms. Ann and a Ghetto Burger. She sat and talked to us through our entire meal. I am so thankful I had that short time with her once again. Although I don't call Atlanta home anymore Ms. Ann is one of the things I miss about that busy city. I will miss Ms. Ann greatly and remember that sweet woman always. May God bless you and your family! Know she was loved!!!

“ I only met Ms. Ann a few years ago, but I will never forget her. I mentioned Murphy High School just down the street where my brothers, sister, and I attended, and wished her snack bar had been there back in the day! I'm sure she will be missed by so many people who were grateful to have met her. Gail D.

To My Cousins: Willie C, Hettie, James, Wilson, Mary Lee, Johnny Lee, Josephine, and Family.

Our love, deepest sympathy and prayers go out to the family.

I remember when Annie Bell came to New York in the 1960's to live with us for a season. Her desire was to become a beautician, and she worked hard at it. One night we took her to a theatre, to hear a particular singer. She really enjoyed the experience. Years later, when we visited Ann's Snack Bar, she reminded me of that evening. She began to share that experience with her customers.

During my vacationing in Georgia, as time permitted, I would visit my cousin's shop. She had the best hamburgers I have ever eaten. Annie Bell will be missed, not only for her great cooking, but because of her kindness towards my mom, husband and I.

A scripture that comes to mind is, "Oh taste and see that the Lord (our God) is good! Blessed – happy, fortunate (to be envied) – is the man who trusts and takes refuge in Him.

Psalm 34:8

Cousin Odessa she told me that story when I visited her and how that singer didn't pay attention to the full figured girl lol!! I tell everyone she wanted to be a beautician and how willingly she told me that story. I feel honored that she chose to share that memory with me. Rest Well Miss Ann

“ Veronica P was on point with that. I was thinking the same exact thing. When I moved to Atlanta, I just had to try ms ann's. I went by myself and I fell in love the 1st moment. I told my best friend who lives here and I took him back to try it. He was so impressed with the burger. However, the biggest thing that impressed us both was speaking with Ms Ann. She had such a beautiful spirit and just talking to her, you could gain so much from her wisdom. With us coming from a small town in south Georgia, we could definitely appreciate that. What I like about Veronica's post is the fact that we can all talk about her food; which we all know was amazing, but the person behind the food was even more amazing. If ms ann was not a beautiful person inside and out, people would not be talking about her like this. Her knowledge and wisdom along with her food made the experiences unforgettable. My heart is heavy because I literally visited her place at least once a month since I've been here for 2 years. Last month I didn't see her and it felt so weird. I wish I could have told her the things I always said to her one more time. I can't be too down though, God had this planned a long time ago. I too pray that after it's all said and done, her legacy Still is continued on memorial drive. I still am and will be a regular customer. Actually I'll go even more now. REST ON MS ANN

“ Ms. Ann, from the day you passed and I found out that night, I felt like I had lost a big part of my childhood/adulthood... I grew up coming to your business all the time for the splits, fries and lemonade, until I finally got up the courage to try the Ghattoburger one day and it was so so good.... You had a mind like no other, even years down the line, you would still always remember my parents or my sisters skipping school to come eat and u telling my dad later that day when he came to eat, lol... My dad even used to love your lemonade so much that he wanted to buy in bulk from you, lol..

Although I last saw you in November I believe doing what you love on the grill, that I will cherish always is last year on my bday which happens to be tomorrow, I had did the march of dimes walk and picked fresh strawberries and i was determined that I was going to get my twin, Kesha to try you food for the 1st time. That day you had recently got back from a health issue and was seating at the end of the counter cutting it up with you customers, telling stories about past guests coming so far just for your burger and how you used Heinz not that other stuff bc its the real ketchup and how your meat was fround ground for the butcher every day but you liked to cook with some love and passion and that if your customer wanted a quickie burger then they can go to one of those other fast food chains...I cried laughing so hard that day and see you in raw form like that made my 28th bday even better last year.

My sister asked could she take you picture that day and I am so glad you let her because we have that to cherish now.

You were a very sweet lady who had a wonderful spirit and craft for your love of food and a Atlanta Legend for the last 40plus yrs and even though you have transitioned on to heaven, i pray that once you family has some time to grief your passing that they will keep your legacy alive and keep Ms. Ann's Snack Bar open. I also pray that you did get on the historic registry like you were trying to do a few years ago so that your establishment will be an historic Atlanta landmark for years to come.

As much as I wanted to go to your viewing yesterday evening, I wasn't able to but I know that you are resting in heaven and cooking up a storm and that you will always be on the hearts and mind of many near and far from Atlanta.

*Rest in Peace
Ms. Ann*

“ Ms. Ann, one would have a mouth full to say. You've taken your bow & left your mark on all whom have had the pleasure. From Kirkwood and miles around Georgia. If you've had the pleasure of visiting Ann's snack bar, the ghetto burger, hood burger, loaded splits & hotdogs, mmmm, along with her fiery tongue & her shooting straight from the hip mouthpiece. Rest on Queen Ann, you will be missed but not forgotten, you are forever etched in our hearts, mind and tastebuds (for those who have had the pleasure of visiting her snack bar). "Mechell H"

“ If you didn't know Ms. Ann you would be very intimidated by her or even think she was rude. But that was not the case at all. She was just old school and consistent with her rules and her food. I swear those 1-2 hour waits for those burgers were well worth it. Plus you were in entertained by her on a good day. Because she was very witty and also a sweet woman. I will miss her dearly. “ When we suffer the loss of a love one it can be devastating however it should be comforting to know that God desires all of us to live forever as noted at John 6:40 “This is the will of my Father, that everyone who recognizes the Son and exercises faith in him should have everlasting life.” We should take solace in the fact that one day Death will be no more. As stated here at Revelations 21:4 “He will wipe out every tear from their eyes, and death will be no more.”

“ I only had the pleasure of visiting Ann's Snack Bar once with a friend from Milwaukee. We got the full treatment that day to include Ms. Ann sharply telling my friend, "I know what you ordered!" when he tried to remind her of his special request when she started to make his burger! LOL We hollered! He thought she might forget in the midst of the crowds and the several burgers she had made before his. He didn't know! Ms. Ann had a mind like a steel trap and she knew her business. RIP Ms. Ann. You've certainly made your mark on Atlanta and on us!

“ My wife and I ate there several times, and enjoyed the experience deeply. Not only because of the food, but Ms. Anne's (and her staff) made it a gem. She was a "pistol" in the best sense, and a nice lady. Suffered no fools. Gave respect where respect given, Ran her own business with command, humility, and dignity, while turning out a fantastic product in a manner many would have thought unworkable.

Ms. Ann WAS very much part of the product, and a most important ingredient.

“ I felt sadness when a friend told me of the passing of Ms. Ann. She served some great burgers and was a nice lady, once you conformed to the rules. She reminded me of the Soup Nazi episode from Seinfeld, " No soup for you, get out" I was always afraid of taking new people there with me who didn't know the rules, I always feared she'd say "No burger for you, get out" It never happened and I always enjoyed the Ghetto Burger, fries, and a large lemonade. You shall be missed, bless your heart. You were a Atlanta institution, like no other. As a foodie, I'm glad I got to experience the best burger in the world.

She had her rules, which diners had to abide by, and she would "crack the whip", if you violated those rules. But, the lady had a heart of gold. Towering nearly 7 inches off the plate and topped with all your favorites. Chili, bacon, cheese, cole slaw, onion, pickles, lettuce, tomato...you name it if she had it it would go on the top. But be sure to know what you want before you sit down or the sweet little old lady behind the counter would give you a proper cursing out the likes of a hardened sailor. “ Only a few people are ever recognized as doing something better than anyone else in America. What's better than a cheeseburger? And what's a better cheeseburger than Ann's Snack Bar. Did she create the best single dish in the country? Food hand-made by a strong woman with strong opinions, and yes, a sense of humor. No doubt, there's a bar stool waiting for her where she is now. “ My the Lord continue to bless your humbling soul. I started coming to your restaurant when I was in the 9th grade. OMG your burgers were on point, best part of them all you made them FRESH by hand!!! I was also taken there on my first date lol and I remember you telling the gentleman I was with, " Young man if you want to be serve here you need to stop pulling up with all that loud music, have a lil more respect for others please!" Now those fun memories will always stay with me because everyone loves your food, along the the firm discipline you taught so many of us. May the Glory from the Lord impact other and shower the hearts of your entire family💖🕒📖🍀🙏😊

“ Miss Ann was always nice to me. I used to go in there late at night and talk to her for an hour or so while she was closing up. On a few rare occasions she would let me in early while others were waiting just to talk while she was making her Cole slaw. I am sure she is to blame for about 25 of my extra pounds. She was as sweet as they come and the world lost a good one that is for sure. Ain't no hands like Ms. Ann's hands!

“ I just ate there last Saturday and her family stated that she was very sick and wouldn't be coming back. She was kind and nice to me always. Knowledgeable. Talkative. She told me the about the cone and only time she got robbed. She could tell you about every police chief, zone commander, mayor, police precinct from the past to the present.

When you entered her buisness respect took over.
