Arlene we connected right from the start. We were college mates, roommates, best friends, sisters. We were strength to each other at a time when we were emerging as young independent women. You know me better than most, I always admired your caring nature, loyalty to your friends and family and your work ethic. I am thankful for the numerous memories we share but most of all I will treasure and never forget your smile, unconditional love and support and your strength and wisdom. You contributed so much in your short time here on earth, and your impact is undeniable. I will forever cherish our friendship.
