“ I first met Mr. Queen at the NAMC National's Office in the SunTrust Bank Building in D.C. in 1993. He just had a commanding presence and was all business at the beginning of our meeting. Being a young business owner, I was all ears as he was an accomplished business owner and I wanted to learn whatever wisdom he was willing to share.

As time move on and being a National Board Member, he approached me with a " GOLD " lapel pin labelled " NAMC ", an told me to cherish it, which I still wear at all our meetings.

Over the years, travelling to various cities in America on behalf of NAMC business, He and his wonderful wife Sondra would greet and hug me and say it was a blessing to meet again, sometimes 3 times a year for almost 25 plus years.

On a special visit to Minneapolis/St. Paul in January 2007 to go over our National Conference to be held in June of that year, Mr. Queen was dressed in Snow Boots, Massive Gloves, maybe a Fargo Hat and the warmest of all coats trying to impress me that Minnesota cold weather was NOT going to intimidate him. Best of all, I took him down to Owatonna, Minnesota to a large glass making campus to meet folks that build glass for his company Ebony Glass.

Mr. Art Queen, was like a father figure to me. No matter whenever I called he answered or returned my call. I will certainly miss his smile and laugh. He truly was a " Man of All Seasons ". Finally, Art would NEVER give up on NAMC even though he was close to retirement and his loving and wonderful wife Sondra would try to get him to step away he would always show up at the next conference. Art you will be missed.

“ Arthur Queen lived an extraordinary life. If ever there was a man to embody all that God requires of us, it was Arthur. Witty, caring, generous, loving, honorable, kind, always willing to lead with a servant's heart. Heaven has gained a most deserving occupant and we will certainly miss him on this side of paradise. My whole heart goes out to his wife, Sandy as their love knew no bounds and to see her without him will definitely take some getting use to. I thank God for allowing our paths to cross as I was able to see what the definition of a man truly was. We shared our love of sports and enjoyed those Braves and Falcons, although he never detached from his Redskins (Commanders). Our love of bowling was the background for our friendship that lasted more than 35 years.

Arthur's life was not in vain as he taught lessons of generosity, peace, patience, humbleness, and how to be an outstanding businessman. I am sure that everyone he touched could easily write a book on his selflessness and generosity. The world is sadder now without this giant roaming among us. Thank you for everything you've ever shared with me. Your loss is immeasurable but so is the love that you left behind. Rest with God. You were truly loved.
