“ My sister, Etchu Ashu, was a happy and joyful person. She will always make sure to take care of everyone before herself. As her littler brother she will always call to check on me and will support me during tough times. She doesn't get angry for a longtime, once she's mad at someone, she'll immediate pour out her mind and it's all over for her. Whenever people visit , she will make show to always entertain them with food or drinks and chat with them. I remember talking with her the day before she died, even though she was in pain, she kept telling me that she was get better and that I shouldn't worry little did I know that will be the last time to hear your voice. Resp in power big sis Till we meet again.
