“ My Friend...My Husband... My Hero

*My Friend was young when sent off to war.
Deployed to Vietnam, a young teenage boy.
He was not drafted but joined on his own,
Decided to serve his country, he left home.*

*His mother was worried with fear everyday.
She knew to seek God and continued to pray.
He served his country; God spared his life.
His best friend died, leaving a grieving wife.*

*Upon returning home, he was treated with disgust.
No hero homecoming-- he was rushed off the bus.
He was overlooked, spat on; he didn't understand why.
Ordered to fight another country's war, willing to die.*

*When my friend returned home, I was happy as could be.
He then joined the Army Reserve, which I did not foresee.
He was placed on active duty to serve in the Gulf War.
Now my husband and a father, he left home once more.*

*God brought my husband, "my hero", back home safe to me.
We will never be able to understand how awful war can be.
When looking into his eyes, I see suffering and pain ---
A broken man, nerves shot, yet he never complains.*

*Seeking help for my husband has been difficult indeed.
Receiving help from the government is not guaranteed.
My heart goes out to all who have lost loved ones in war.
I pray God give them peace, and war cease forevermore.*

I love you always and forever,

*You will always be a part of me.

“ *My dearest Portia and family, words cannot express what Austin meant to me. Austin took on the role of being my big brother after my last brother made his transition over eight years ago. Always kind , thoughtful and loving to me and my family. Austin believed in showing love and walking the walk. I pray that knowing how much he cared for not only his family but others will bring you peace and comfort just knowing how much he was loved by others. Remember, earth has no sorrow that heaven cannot heal. I Love you family!

“ Sis...I posted earlier today, however, I would like to say this to you personally. There's so much to say about your immense love ❤️ your strength, and the devotion you had for your husband. You were such a loving, supportive, and caring wife. Austin loved you dearly. Your presence brought light into his life and he knew you would always be there...right by his side in sickness and health.

You cared for Austin with unconditional love, grace and strength. There were times we talked, I knew you didn't feel well, you were exhausted, however, you had “no intentions” on leaving your husband's bedside. Just imagine the love and comfort Austin felt knowing you were right there with him...through it all. It's okay Sis... to feel completely broken right now. Nothing escapes God..he sees your tears and your pain, and he's always near to the brokenhearted. God is your refuge, a shield and buckler, even when you're vulnerable. God will take care of you and your family.

Sis...I know you're missing him. You have so many beautiful and wonderful memories of your life together, cherish and keep them in your heart ❤️ forever and always.

“ I’m incredibly sorry for the profound loss my sister and family are experiencing. “Sis...you’re not alone, “ God got you and he has a firm grip on your life.” I’m here for you whenever you need me, day or night. To my niece and nephews, look back on the many memories and find peace in knowing that your father raised amazing children. It’s okay to not be okay...”God has you, too.

Austin held so many roles...husband, father, grandpa, brother and more...

the loss of your loved one is heartbreaking 💔. My prayers is that God will keep you in his everlasting love, and hide you under the shadow of his wings.

To the family as a whole...may Austin’s memory live on in your hearts forever.

My prayer and thoughts are with you always.

“Fear not, for I am with you; be not dismayed; for I am your God.” I will strengthen thee; I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness.”

Isaiah 41:10

A Tribute To The Family

A limb has fallen from the family tree.

Can you hear Austin’s voice saying, “ Grieve not for me.”

Remember the best times, the laughter, the song,

The good life I lived while I was strong.

Remember my heritage, I’m counting on you,

Keep smiling and surely the sun will shine through.

*My mind is at ease, my soul is at rest,
Remembering all, how I truly was blessed.
Continue traditions "Now you know I loved Christmas",
I say to you all, go on with your life, don't worry about falls.
I miss you all dearly, so keep up your chin,
Until the day comes we're together again.
Our family chain is broken and nothing seems the same, but as God calls us one by one the chain will link again.*

“ I will always remember three things the first thing is dad love to take us out of town on vacation. The second thing is Christmas dad love to have his kids and grandkids around him on that day that meant the world to him, but the most important thing I will always remember about my dad is the way he loved my mom he loves her with all his heart my dad would move heaven and Earth to get anything my mom wanted no matter what it was or how expensive it was he was going to get it. Dad you will be miss, but never forget Love you always dad. An I will keep that promise I made to you.

To my beautiful aunt Portia and family, there are no words that truly capture how sorry I am. Uncle Austin meant so much to all of us, and I know this loss is especially heavy for you. I hope that you find comfort in the love surrounding you and the beautiful memories that you shared. I love you all and I'm here if you need anything. God bless~
