“ I miss you bunch! I can't believe it's almost a year, probably cause I replay our conversations daily so it seems like I just seen you. I miss you a lot like more than I thought I could ever miss anyone. It's a song called 5 more minutes, I wish I had five more minutes just to laugh and talk. You and papa are missing a lot, but time is flying by. Ima make it to heaven just watch and see!

“ Hey Bunch was still hoping it was just a nightmare you know. Still can't believe it's been two months without hearing your voice. It's so much I want to tell you but I can't. It hasn't gotten any easier it's still hurts. It sucks not being able to see your name pop up asking me have I made it safely. Idk where to place the pain I miss you granny. I love you

So sorry for your loss. I to am a Gholston with my Grandfather James Gholston 1888-1974 and my uncles Hezekiah, Tommy Lee, and aunts Irene and Emma Francis Gholston-Daniel. Just curious if your Grandmother or Grandfather had mentioned other "black" Gholstons from GA. Richard Gholston

“ We love you granny. It ain't the same at the house without you. But, I know you're in a better place. I listen to this song and a verse says "we're both headed to same place anyways, but I just beat you there". We will see yall again except this time it will be for eternity. I pray I have many years left on earth, but I can't wait to see you again. Good luck bunch.

“ I love you granny. My road partner I feel empty without you, but aren't in anymore pain. I hate you was in the hospital, but I'm glad we spent that one on one time even though the food was nasty and the only good show was cheaters. You kept telling me you knew it was a lot on me, but I'd do it again if I had to. I'm getting right with God so we can spend eternity together forever earth was just our meeting place. I could go on forever about the type of person you are. You're not longer in pain and have to worry about doctors giving you all this medication to help your body function. You know the song we would play in the car you'd tap your fingers and Lashun would say "there's a leak in this old building yall and my soul has got to move....ive got another building not made by man's hands" we didn't get to say good luck cause you know we have some praising to do together when I meet yall up there. Can't say gone too soon cause we had 32 years together. We love you bunch you broke my heart with this one, but I have time to completely turn my life around. Just watch we gone praise God together I love you granny until we meet again bunch!
