“ Grief can be so hard, but our special memories help us cope during this most difficult time. May the God of all comfort and the love of your family give you the strength you need to endure. ( 2 Corinth. 1:3,4)

“ To my loving sister,

I love you, and will always will. I'll miss you more than any words can say, and I know we'll see each other again.

Your baby sis

“ My condolences to the Pratt family. No matter who we are, death is difficult. In the Bible, there are many promises from God. One of the many scriptures I have found to be comforting during difficult times is found at 2 Corinthians 1:3,4 where it says, "Praised be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of tender mercies and the God of all comfort, who comforts us in all our trials so that we may be able to comfort others in any sort of trial with the comfort that we receive from God." In 1 Corinthians 15:26 it tells us how God feels about death, it says, "And the last enemy, death, is to be brought to nothing." God hates death and he views it as an enemy. Because of the all the pain and suffering (i.e. death) many wonder, does God really care about us. First Peter 5:7 assures us that he does, it says, "while you throw all your anxiety on him, because he cares for you."

“ My mother... can't begin to say how many ways she steered me through this morass we call life, through the advice she gave me (and didn't, when I needed to get the hard lesson that only life can provide). When times were lean-to-tight for me, she carried me without complaint. She constantly bore with the quirks that life saw fit to hand me at birth without complaint. For this, and so much more that I can't list here and now, I thank her. The love she gave me is something that I'll never be able to equal, even if I live for another thousand years. I'll always miss you, Mom...

“My grandmother touched every person she ever met. She had such a kind, warm spirit that drew people to her. The values and skills that she taught me will forever be in me. By being her only grandchild , I am honored to have received the love she gave me. She is my biggest motivation behind everything that I do.”
