“ I remember hanging out with Simone at her house in Brooklyn, NY and Mama Cynthia used to make two of my favorite things. Scotch Bonnet hot sauce and black cake. Both from scratch. She also made Simone’s bridesmaids dress that Simone wore in my wedding. Thank you Mama Cynthia for giving me a phenomenal friend in Simone. RIP

“ I can recall receiving a phone call from Simone informing me that you were not doing well, and facing your last days in hospice. I was shopping in BJ's at the time. My stride came to a halt as my eyes filled with tears. I had no idea that I would become so emotional. It was the last news I expected to receive. As time passed every now and again I would ask how you were and was told you were “hanging in there”. I would then respond “she is one strong woman” to be hanging on for so long. That was more than a year ago and you really hung in there. It just goes to show that doctors cannot always determine your “end” date. The time has now come and you have gone on to a place where you are no longer needlessly suffering. You have departed from this tumultuous world. As I write this I can remember times spent with you, Simone and Gregory. You always made sweet bread and ice cream and Gregory was always making cake. The times were few and far between but I can recall them and they were better than none. I can also recall the many times you made dresses for me for weddings and christenings and when I see those photos I will remember you. I trust that you are at peace now and you'll be living your best life.

“ Ms. Aguilera has been like a mom to me ever since she brought Simone to my Junior high school. I ate her food so often and still miss her homemade ice cream! Even though I know she is looking down on us I still miss her. I pray for God's grace and peace upon the rest of the family. Love you all. Tony

Although we expected death, death came like a thief in the night and swept her away. We will all miss her. I too can and will testify to her cooking and baking...butter bread, sweet bread. Pone, coconut bake, pound cake, and black rum cake. She was the best and made the best. We love ❤️ you. May God keep you under his wings.
