“ What can you say about Danny? Well, for one, he brought love, happiness and sparkle to my best friend, Carolyn. I would grab my coffee and plop in her office on Monday mornings as there was ALWAYS a Danny Story from the weekend. I was well entertained... some of those stories still make me laugh until I cry. What a gentle giant. A man’s man. A GOOD man. My ultimate, favorite memory? When Mr. Watts walked Carolyn down the aisle and stopped short. Carolyn looked at her Dad, confused (c’mon, Dad), and Danny walked from the front of the sanctuary toward his gorgeous bride, and sang -acapella- “ You are so beautifullllll to meeee..... “ There was not a dry eye in the church (men included). THAT was Danny. Godly, sentimental, reverent, thoughtful, considerate, warm, humorous, mature, steady, solid, loving.... the whole package. A year later, The Harrises celebrated our union with Carolyn standing as our Matron of Honor. Years later, when my Baby was paralyzed, a year and one half later - there was Danny, too. We’ve laughed, cried, prayed, celebrated and supported each other. Danny, you will be missed. We are most grateful we got to share our lives together, at least for a little while. Keep a pew open for us in The Heanenly Home. We’ll meet you there. (Photo: Danny Harris and Rick Lynch, Lynch wedding 7/3/2005)

I offer my condolences for your loss. My thoughts and prayers are with you during this time. I may have known Carolyn first, but I considered Danny my friend also. He had a beautiful spirit. He was kind and considerate and not shy of offering words of encouragement. I know you are at peace. Carolyn, may God continue to give you strength and the peace you need.
