De De was one of the most encouraging, kind and brilliant people that Ive ever known. She was witty, charismatic and thoughtful. Talented and kind, supportive and profound even. Shes a Hell of a Poet and I appreciate her being so poised even if I got on her nerves. Her grace and respect spilled over into her unconditional love. She sometimes had trouble expressing it as well as she wanted to. I understood this about her, I also saw the amazing person that she was despite her adversities. She loved her Children and Father so much as she did her whole family, including her kids father up until her transition. Im not related to her but her love still lives with me, moves and inspires me... so I can only imagine the love that her family continues to carry with them. She is missed
