“ Hi Mom, I want to wish you a very happy Mother’s Day in heaven. I hope you’re peacefully enjoying your day. I love and miss you so deeply. The other day, I tried calling your number, but I knew you might not answer, so I talked out to you in my mind, pretending I was talking to you as we always did. I really miss our conversations. We used to talk every single day, and I still feel that connection. I am sending you this letter to heaven I know that it will reach you. I miss you so much, Mom. I love you forever. Happy Mothers Day💕💕

I'm so grateful that you visit me in my dreams — sometimes I get to talk to you, which feels like a gift from God. I'll cherish any way you come to me, as long as you do. I miss you terribly and look forward to seeing you again. It's been 10 months since you left, and I thought it would get easier, but each day feels harder. Still, I love you forever. I am you💕💕

“ Mom, it’s been eight months since you left me, and not a day goes by that I don’t think of you. I miss you so deeply—our conversations, hearing your voice over the phone. I still feel connected to you, but it’s never quite the same. I believe I will see you again someday, and I find comfort in knowing that God is now taking care of you, just as you took care of us with so much love. I love you always and forever.

“ Dear Mom,
It's been seven months since you left, and the ache of missing you grows stronger each day. While I can't hear your voice or see your face, I feel your presence in my heart. You are a part of me, and that connection brings me comfort even in this difficult time. I truly struggle with the pain of your absence, but I find solace in praying to God, trusting that He will help ease my heartache. I believe in His kindness, and I know that He is there for us. I love you deeply, Mom, and though you are no longer physically here, your spirit will always be with me because I am you 💕💕

This is the first year I can't be there to celebrate with you in person, and it's truly tough not being able to say it face-to-face. I take comfort in knowing that you're surrounded by family—your parents, brothers, sisters, and Ricky, your firstborn son—making beautiful memories together. I hope you're enjoying your special day to the fullest. I love you so much, Mom. 💕🦋🎂🎈🍷

“ Hi Mom, it's me Kitten. It's been six months since you left to go be with God and the rest of your loved ones - especially Ricky- I just can't believe that you were gone. The pain is still so deep and I cry every single day. I tried to carry on with life, but no matter how I try the grief finds me throughout the day. I'm learning to carry the pain and I have come to accept that grieving for you and Ricky will be a part of my everyday life for the rest of my life until we meet again- I love you. I love you. I love you so much. Rest in peace mommy💕💕

“ Dear Mom,

I love you so much. For the past three months, I've been navigating life without you, and this birthday and Easter was the first I've spent without you by my side. The void is immense, and my heart aches with every passing day.

But I hold onto God's promise, the beautiful assurance that I will see you again. Until that glorious day, I will carry your love deep within me. I love you endlessly, and my heart beats with the precious memories we've shared.

May God embrace you with warmth and care, just as you always did for me.

*With all my love,

“ Dear Mom,

As I take a moment to reflect on you today, it's truly hard to grasp that a month has passed since you left us. The absence you've left behind is deeply felt, and I often find myself turning to "One Wing" by Jordin Sparks; the lyrics echo the profound sadness that has accompanied me since you departed. Without you, navigating life feels like I'm missing my other wing—the one that supported me through countless challenges. Your unwavering love and encouragement meant everything to me, and the impact you had on my life continues to guide me each day.

Every night, I sense your presence surrounding me, and it offers me solace to know that Ricky was there to embrace you at the pearly gates. Mom, I wish I could have somehow restored the breath you once gave me and I tried to bring you back but I realize now that God has a different plan for you. I would give anything for just one more moment with you, to bask in the light and love you shared. However, I am starting to find comfort in the belief that you are with God, where suffering no longer exists and love is everlasting.

I miss you more than words can convey, and I carry your spirit with me in everything I do. I hold onto the hope that we will reunite one day. Rest peacefully, dear Mom. You will forever remain in my heart, and my love for you knows no bounds.

*With all my love,
Your daughter, Kitten*
