“ Dearest Darlene and Ronny,
Thank you for sharing your living angel with us during this celebration of her life. Her life lived showed the depth of life that her length of years cannot measure. Her loved ones spoke poignantly of her insights and joys and so many stained glass shards of good memories that left a larger more beautiful picture of her than one person could know.

A diamond is known by the four C's: cut, color, clarity and carat weight.

Dymond was the very CUT of the unique blend of Darlene and Ronny's artistic passions: design artistry and photographic artistry and yet her own

COLOR of unique kaleidoscope of blending and brushstrokes. She held the CLARITY of acceptance of souls within her gaze and the weightless CARAT of a living angel to all who experienced Her.

She will shine bright like a Dymond forever.

*Love Always,

“ You really were a true diamond. The world will miss your articulate, creative and physical beauty. You are a true example of greatness gone too soon. But it was in perfect alignment with God's time. Rest in peace Dymond.

Ronnie and Darlene,

Joyce and I extend heartfelt condolences on the loss of your beautiful daughter. We pray that your treasured memories of Dymond will keep you strong. Always remember that we are not human beings undergoing a spiritual experience, but spiritual beings undergoing the human experience.

Dymond's spiritual deeds have left this world a gold-plated template for living a grateful and peaceful life.

Bountiful Love,
James & Joyce Kilgore
Washington, D.C.

BTW, we are continually receiving praise from visitors to our home of Dymond posing in your moving portrait, "I Choose Life," which is prominently displayed.

I remember Dymond when she'd come to work to visit Darlene and I'd always want to see and talk about her latest art project. Her yearly art Calendar was exceptional.

Dymond, may you continue to pick up your paintbrush, and color Heaven and sparkle above us.
