“ To Vivian and the rest of the family, your mother imparted knowledge to a lot of people. I remember her teaching us French at JJ Roberts. She always had a big smile. The first time I saw her at a function in Georgia was about 10 years ago and we were both so excited to see each other. She will truly be missed.

“ *A Mother’s Example
God-loyal people, living honest lives, make it much easier for their children.*

Proverbs 20:7

A mother’s example doesn’t last for a day, or for a month, or for a year. It lasts for a lifetime.. and beyond. So today, as you consider the lessons you intend to teach your kids, think carefully about the importance of being a mom whose words and actions provide a positive example for the next generation and for the generations that will follow.

Every time you serve as a worthy role model, you’re giving your children– and theirs-a gift that money can’t buy. And since tomorrow isn’t promised, you must strive to be a positive role model today, not someday.

So be encouraged and remember, Mom, that your lessons last. And strive to make sure the lessons you choose to teach are reinforced by the life you choose to live.

Something my mother would want to tell all mothers.

Mama is finally in God's hands! Rest in Peace until we meet again!

“ May the God of comfort be with you at this time of sorrow. Psalms 34:18 says: Jehovah is close to the brokenhearted; He save those who are crushed in spirit.

Words cannot express how am feeling writing this. Because I am yet to come to turn with the news of your home going. I still ask myself, is it true? Why so early at such a mid level age? Yes, your memories will never leave me dear mama. I literally grew up in your hands. I remember vividly when I used to visit you around Saye town in Monrovia during the early 1980s when I was just a kid. I admire when I learned that you were a french teacher at JJ Roberts High school. I took interest in what is referred to as the feminine language at St. Michael's Catholic High school. And especially being around a young educated African woman at the time of my up bringing. Today, I still speak and write some little elementary french - at least to get me by with a water to drink and meal to quench my hunger.

And hey dear mama, you were even more intrigued and encouraging whenever you saw my grades - yes my french grades. But most of all, your quest for education and pieces of advice helped made me to grow into the full man I am today.

Patrick and I have come to be more than brothers. You helped made it possible. Your memories will forever remain with us and the fear of your presence will forever hunt us in making you proud - even with your absence - it is our pledge to always make your light shine among the stars.

I love you dear mother! Rest in peace and let your light shine in whatever we do here on earth among the living. Go and take your rest! I bit you good night!
