“ My condolences to The Compton Family on our loss. I worked worked Jean at the US Postal Service; she was like that mom who saw everything. She always had an encouraging word and was always helpful in doing everything, including getting the Box Mail up by 9:30AM! May God continue to bless & comfort her family.

“ Our sincere condolences to the Compton Families. Our hearts are sadden for your loss. Our families go a long way back and we will always remember her and her many acts of kindness. She was always joyous, full of fun and always had a funny story to tell as well as bringing one of her delicious pound cakes. She will always be in the hearts and minds of all who knew her. Although she is the hands of our heavenly Father, she is rejoicing with her mother.

“ Ms. Glamour has traded her body for a new one with the Father. That is what I said every time I look at her picture. Knowing that she is out of pain brings some comfort, but her presence on earth will surely be missed. Take comfort family in knowing that Jean legacy lives on in each of us. Every time we hear I know that’s right or eat a piece of cake or sweet pie. We will remember her. Please know that she has reunited with her family in heaven and Willie Mae is rejoicing. Even though she is with the Father, you will feel her presence here from time to time. Emma Jean lived a good life and now she is basking in her reward. Remember the Brooks, Hines, Bryant, & Miller family are here for you and we are honored to have her in our family. God Bless and may his peace wrap you in his love like a blanket.

To the family, remember that nothing beautiful in this world is ever lost. Those we love will always live forever in our memory. Jean was so kind and friendly that’s why I asked her to be a part of our courtesy guild at First Baptist Gresham, she can continue greeting in heaven now. Sis. Maggie L Mintz FBC
