“ To the Neely Family:

God has determined who comes into your life and He gives you the freedom to choose who stays connected to your life. Ernest and I have been lifelong friends - first grade 1 - 12, military service, the time in California, and the years of living together as roommates until he married Quincy as well as working together at the same place for 40 years. To know him, to understand him has been a delightful journey in life. We have had many talks and laughs about back street, main street, and wall street. Yes, I said Wall Street. To share the love and the laughter, I have eaten some of his cooking before the birth of many of the younger generations. He has always loved his family -- first and foremost -- Mother and Father and his grandparents in California as well as all his bothers and sisters and their families. To top it off he loved Quincy and his sons - Mike and Chad.

To laugh... If you really wanted to get Ernest feathers stirred up... be a crooked and a scheming politician trying to fatten his own pocket at the expense of others.

I will miss him dearly and our conversations over the years and miles. Great minds discuss ideas, issues of the day and how to continually improve. He was always reading and talking about saving money and where we could get quality for a lesser price. [Just ask MR Lee Alfred Williams of the Magic Kitchen Restaurant, our other room-mate]. We had a blessed life -- never a moment of chaos, or missing a good meal and having positive talks and plans. Respect and honor is what we deeply embraced.

The memory of a life long friend is priceless. God Bless the whole family.
