“ I was deeply saddened to hear of Francina's passing. She was a beacon of faith, inspiration, and love for my sister Nancy. I will forever be grateful for the counsel, friendship, and support Francina shared with Nancy through the years. And I am further saddened that I never spoke those words to her directly.

“ My beautiful Francina, how do I say goodbye to a light of inspiration and hope. A woman who saw the best in me when I didn't see it in myself. A woman who pushed me to step out of my own way and into a spot where people could see me. My deepest prayers and condolences are going out to your family during their time of bereavement, for they lost a true genuine reflection of light and love. I thank the Lord for gifting you to the world, and I thank your family and friends for allowing you to mother, mentor, minister, and be-friend so many along the way. Your life and legacy will be cherished and celebrated forevermore. Thank you for loving me.

“ Queen Francina, you will truly be missed. You lived with a heart full of love and a spirit anchored in faith. You were a woman of prayer—always lifting others up, standing in the gap, and calling on Heaven for the people you loved including us and for that we are forever grateful! You see, helping others wasn’t just something you did; it was who you were.

You mentored many, encouraged more, and lived your life with wisdom, dignity, and fierce compassion. Not a person without mistakes, but a person willing to show others they can make it through those mistakes. Your legacy is found in the countless lives you touched, the prayers you prayed, and the strength you showed in every season.

And now, you wear your crown—not a crown made of gold or jewels, but one crowned with righteousness, peace, and the eternal glory of Heaven. You have run your race, fought the good fight, and now in the presence of the King, where you shall reign with Him forever.

To your beloved family—we continue to lift you up in prayer and wrap you in the comfort Francina so freely gave to others. Thank you for sharing her with the world. Because of her, we are better, wiser, and more whole. We are always here for you, just a phone call away.

“ I find it difficult to fully convey my gratitude for such an extraordinary person. Francina was a true source of inspiration in my life, and I will always cherish the countless conversations we shared. Her wisdom guided me on my journey, and she was not just a mentor but also a dear friend. Rest in peace, Fran; your legacy will endure. My thoughts and prayers are with your family and everyone who was touched by Francina.

“ I have not fully processed Her passing at this time. Not sure how to finish this note... To the family of Francina, she was loved dearly by me and my family. She has made an indelible impression and impact in our lives. As much as I will miss her, I know you will miss her more. Thank you for sharing her with us. I will be calling and visiting, and will be available for you, I will NOT forget you and will be praying for your comfort and strength through this transition.

I am still in shock.. I still don't have the words; I will miss our long chats and all of your advice on just about everything from spiritual things to business to just plain sisterhood things. You loved everyone and always found a way to show up and make each of us feel special. You have definitely made your mark on this side of heaven. I love you forever.. Rest well, sis.
