“ I’m just getting this news and I’m devastated! I appreciate Mr.Eaves for looking out for me when things were rough in my life. He inspired me and had influence on a lot of decisions I’ve made. He was a great man with a kind heart, I would’ve never known he was sick or going through anything. I’m upset with myself for assuming I had time. Prayers to his family.

“ To Toni and the family, William and I are so sorry to hear of Franklin’s passing. He was a very kind , sweet person who was a very important part of the deaf ministry. He had the greatest smile and wonderful demeanor. He was a faithful kingdom worker who now has heard The Master well done thy good and faithful servant. You are in our prayers. “ I first met Franklin at Project Destiny we were co-workers and members of New Birth in 2000, over the course of the last 23 years we remained close friends and would speak often, he was a great friend and better human being, very generous and I will truly miss our conversations, so I leave you with a poem:

Mourning

It's the hyphen between life and death.

*Or that singular moment when we exhale,
our last breath.*

*It's the spirit taken its leave,
as it begins its next ascent into eternity.*

For those left behind who join the fraternity of the loss...

RIP My Friend
