“ Condolences with love 💕 to the family of Garland Ivory. I first met the Ivory family when I was 13yrs of age and my brother Arthur and Barbara started dating. I was welcome into the Ivory family as Barbara became the sister that I never had and in the midst of it all, I gained two more brothers, Sam and Garland. We didn't get to see each other lately often as we once did, but the love of family was and still is, everlasting. To the children of my brother Garland from another loving mother, that always dressed to the nines and kept you laughing, I say to y'all, cherish the memories as I will. Signed by me, Sandra Terrell Arnold and Family

“ Garland we met in 1989 after hearing so much about you growing up and I must say I was very impressed with how you presented yourself with the many many suits and shoes to match. I never saw you in the same outfit. You were definitely Mr. GQ. I enjoyed the many laughs we shared and will miss you. . . Tamara Hall

“Garland was someone I grew up knowing but had never met until I was preparing to get married in 1989. You were such an inspiration to me and always knew the right words to say at the right moment. I remember when you held my daughter in your arms when she was 5 days old and you told me her dad is such a loser to miss out on something this precious and beautiful. You were there when I had my son and you were simply there every step of the way. We shared so many laughs, talks and the lessons I gave you to learn the computer, you never missed an opportunity to attend my many adventures or simply enjoying one of Mothers meals and a conversation. You gave me an understanding of what a dad and daughter relationship is all about. You will be missed . . . your girl Wendy Hall

“My Dearest Garland we met at an early age of innocence (18 and 22) and I must admit that you were the true example of what that thing called love is all about. We had so many great years of you being the one who could bring a smile to a challenging day, one who could lift my spirits with the many wake up calls before your daily walks, being the first to wish me a great holiday, birthday valentine you name it your were there. Even though life took us down a path we did not have in our plans that caused some distance we both knew our hearts would reunite one day and it did in 1989 and it continued until death took us apart. I cherish and adore the many, many years we had and you will never be forgotten. I will miss you here on earth but I know we will always be together spiritually. Farewell my friend . . . Nell Hall

“ Some my fondest memories of Mr. Ivory were when he lived near the dome stadium. Going to his house was like going to the movies because his TV was state of the art with a sound system to match. We would watch movies with him for hours. He was a kind man. He was my wedding photographer and allowed us to use the red Navigator for transportation. I will always remember his smile and how he never met a stranger. Rest in heaven Mr. G. Ivory.
