“ I knew Gayle when we both were small at Bell's Temple Church and was re-introduced to her again through my daughter Kristin, years later, at the State of Georgia. Remebering the strong embrace as we talked about Mother Hayle. Glad to have had that encounter.

“ Gaye and I worked closely together in 2015, well as closely as you can in the expanse that separates California from Georgia, to pull off the 2015 IALLA Conference in New Orleans. She was always there to offer support and to put a positive spin on the large workload we had in front of us. Gaye told it how it was, which was invaluable in dealing with some of the more difficult issues that popped up. I will miss her.

“ I was so fortunate to have Gaye as a colleague for 12 years, and a friend beyond that. She was the exemplar for a life well-lived, and her faith in God was evident in everything she did. She was a wonderful confidant, a dedicated public servant, and an all-around brilliant human being. There was no one else like her, and although I hate the idea of a world without her in it, I know she is home, rejoicing with her loved ones who arrived there before her. I thank the Lord for the life of Gaye Hayles Newton, and that our paths crossed on this mortal plane. Words are insufficient to express how much I will miss her.
