

Gregory Nanton

July 10, 1961 - May 27, 2015

GREG was a complex man. On one hand he was a loving, generous, big hearted, fun-loving husband, father, son, brother, uncle and friend. A man who provided comfort, joy, fun, laughter and good times to all he encountered. A man who guided the people in his life to higher aspirations and tangible dreams. Greg was a man that cared and because he cared he wanted to see those he cared for succeed and be happy. He felt that because he was well groomed, all in his company needed to follow suit and wasn't ashamed to pull any of his children aside to suggest a wardrobe adjustment or to encourage them to tend to crust on their lips before he did so for them.

On the other hand, Greg was a competitor, protector and fighter focused on the causes he deemed righteous. He would push you to be better even if you didn't understand the means by which this was accomplished. He would coach you through tough love, logic and experience on the way to be the best that you could be. He expressed himself with fervor and passion so that his message would not easily be ignored or disregarded. Greg realized in others what they may have been hesitant or lacking the confidence enough to see within themselves and then worked to help them act on their potential.

He would make you want to scream in the process of building you up and laugh at the accuracy of the hard lessons he had taught you. Greg had a way of driving you as crazy as he'd drive his cars and at the same time with just as much class.

He was a family man who loved his family to great extents and was willing to go to such extents to show them that love. Even if the love shown wasn't traditional by the standards of others, it was a love specific to Greg. A special and deep love reserved for the ones he held closest to his heart. He knew how to make family feel like an exclusive club where happiness was the goal and love was the fuel. His reach and influence within his family were vast and immeasurable.

Greg was a complex man that demanded and deserved a love as complex as the love he gave and will be greatly loved and remembered forever...

Gregory Nanton is forever remembered by his wife Shirley Nanton, his children, Trisca, RaShad, Tristan, Santana and Trinity. His brothers and sisters. His Father Louis Monell and his mother Ethel Nanton. May the angels rejoice

“ Shirley, I am just hearing about Greg's passing. I would have tried to attend the service if I had known. My sympathy and prayers go out to you, your kids, and the rest of the family. I always enjoyed talking with Greg the few times I was fortunate enough to be in his presence. May God continue to bless you and the family as you go through this difficult time and may your memories of Greg give you comfort during the times that you feel all alone. You will also be in my thoughts and prayers.

“ Shirley, I offer my deepest sympathy to you and your kids. I am Gregg's cousin Tresia (3-C) Jackson. We grew up as kids at Mama's house. He would always look out for us. We will see him again in our dreams, in our thoughts and even in your children's eyes. He is at peace now and in such a better place. Amen..

“ *I am so sorry for your loss. Your family will be in my thoughts and prayers. Ms. Nanton, I am sure the bond that you shared with your husband and the strength that you have will help your family heal. You both did a great job raising wonderful children, and the love and guidance you both provided will live forever within them. If there is anything I can do, please do not hesitate to ask. “ On May 27, 2015, I lost my best friend of 27 years and my kids lost their "dad". He loved his family and friends unconditionally. He shared his dreams and worldly adventures with his family and everyone he encountered. He was my second heart beat, my "rock", and my safe haven. I love you sweetheart.....until we meet again S-Girl!!!!
