“ I'm late to comment and share my immense love and appreciation for one of God's angels put here to be a guiding light for many. Soror Gwen always took the time to provide words of wisdom. As I entered our illustrious Sisterhood embarking on a new journey within AKA, as a wife, soon to be mother (shortly after marriage), she stressed that I needed to find, often adjust, and maintain balance between everything because too much of one, can be the demise of another. And God knows she wasn't wrong.

When I had my first child, in the mail I received a beautifully handwritten note providing well wishes, encouragement, and advice. We often spoke over the phone and met in person for lunch. When I went through one of the toughest moments in my life to date, she called just to say, you've got this; and she could say that with total empathy because she had already walked that same path and was ready and willing to guide me through.

I cry as I write this but I also rejoice, because I know where she is! Thank you God for granting us time with your angel, Soror Gwen. I love you!

“ Gwen shared herself in so many ways with so many people. She embraced life and lived it to the fullest with her family and friends. Meeting Gwen introduced me to running and meeting the challenge of running the Peachtree Road Race for several years. She has raised three wonderful children who I had the privilege of seeing them mature into adulthood. May her legacy strengthen you now and always!

“ To Gwen: my dear Soror, friend, and colleague:

I remember meeting you over thirty years ago when we were both new to the Atlanta area. We have shared so many memories together over the years: your fitness classes at Bruce Street Recreation Center, sharing your poetry with my students at Shadow Rock Elementary School, and attending your wonderful poetry events.

I will miss our early morning chats, lunches, and social events together. Your passion for literature, culture, and friendship always shined bright and I'm grateful to call you my friend.

Thank you for supporting me in my dream of becoming a member of this illustrious sisterhood, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. You were a shining example of true dedication to this organization. The work will continue—Rest well, my friend.

“ Gwen was an amazing, caring person always thinking of others. She reached out to me when I lost my son this year after many years of us not having any contact since I had left my position in Educational Media/DeKalb Schools.. It filled my heart that she thought enough of me to reach out and give some words of wisdom and comfort during a very difficult time in my life. We had a wonderful conversation and she left saying, "Kelly we need to do lunch on your schedule since I'm retired now." Thank you God for giving me the opportunity to have known her. Rest in paradise friend!!

“ Gwen and I worked together in the late 90s on technology integration in the school library. I attended two of her poetry readings at the Wesley Chapel-William C. Brown Library.

Gwen was firmly committed to her students, her fellow school librarians, reading, poetry, her sorority, and especially her family. Her legacy lives on in the many lives she touched.

“Gwen attended the early 80s monthly meetings of FIRST WORLD WRITERS COLLECTIVE; a pretty, brown skinned, bright-eyed woman, eager to offer up her poems for the group's critique. She stepped onto a long-running train steered by activist writer and administrator Alice Lovelace, SOUTHERN COLLECTIVE OF AFRICAN AMERICAN WRITERS; poet, journalist and songwriter Dennis McCluster; poet, fiction writer, essayist and playwright Robert Earl Price and me. We argued, but worked together because our passion and love for poetry kept us close throughout the decades. For several years, she led the work of FWW, coordinating and hosting events, among which was an annual writing competition for DeKalb youths--primarily through the DEKALB LIBRARY SYSTEM and DEKALB COUNTY SCHOOLS, where she was employed. She appeared in FELTON EADDY'S POETRY KITCHEN group shows at HAMMONDS HOUSE MUSEUM. She believed in the power of poetry and was committed to sharing the work aloud in public spaces. DEKALB COUNTY is better because of her poetry and the direct impact of her work upon its citizens. She never gave up on poetry as a tool for engaging the community. In fact, she circulated a flyer for a poetry performance the week prior to her ascension. She was a magic-making Black mama who cherished her children. My deepest condolences to you as you keep the family name strong. I mourn with you, and so do poets across Metro Atlanta. She has joined that holy literary circle in heaven where sweet lyrics flow. May the ancestors welcome her with open arms. Ase!

“ Mrs. Green's love and passion for education and reading was demonstrated throughout her career. She continued to advocate for education and the love of sisterhood well beyond retirement. She taught me at Stephenson Middle that servicing the community and fighting for others is the highest way to honor others. She will be missed. To the family, my condolences and please know your mother was well loved.

“🌿 Prayers of love for The Green Family. Bless you for sharing your beautiful Mother with me. I'll miss my Golden Soror, our daily chats, her love for the United States Postal Service, and our common interests were endless. We both were always up for a new journey, and I'll continue to carry her in my heart. “Gwen was a mentor, friend, big sister, and a beloved addition to my family. Her “tell it like it is” demeanor was laced with love and correction (as needed). Her standards and expectations were high and if you managed to meet them, you were rewarded with a beautifully handwritten note delivered to your home mailbox. Her light will continue to shine bright in those she poured into. My life has been enriched from having her love and support. May God comfort her children and family during this time of sorrow.
