She eventually moved to Brooklyn, NY where she spent most of her childhood and adulthood. She met and married her childhood sweetheart and husband of 67 years on July 20, 1955.

Hazel was an adventurous spirit that loved to travel, enjoyed music & dancing, and was always classy in her style of dress and her demeanor. She was a kind and caring person to all she encountered.

Hazel was a stay-at-home mother until her daughters were school aged and began her working career at the VA Hospital in New York until she moved to Decatur, GA on November 25, 1977.
