“ I've spent so many good times with you and your family until I often felt we were a part of your family. Reflecting...specifically, on the times we would come to your house with Gloria and Oliver...you and LaTonia would treat us no differently than your own family. Always good food, laughs and just a good ole time. James and I often spoke of how genuine you were and always working hard and looking out for others. Although I know God makes no mistakes...it is still so hard to digest this. My prayers are for God to continuously strengthen and bless your beautiful and loving family through this very difficult time. -Sonji-

“ Laying here weeping trying to figure out how I'm going to get through the next couple days. The memories of the past 2 1/2 years since I've moved to GA just keep replaying in my head. From the day I arrived you called and fussed me out Irvin Hawkins for staying in a hotel. Told me to pack my stuff because you were coming to get me, asked me if I'd lost my mind for staying in a hotel when you were right here. I begged you to just let me sleep, you agreed and said you'd be there by check out in the morning. Our Saturdays at Felini's, running errands at Walmart parking the truck alllllllll the way in the back, the day we were going to lunch and the rain storm was coming and you turned around to drive in the opposite direction so the storm would be behind you because you'd just wash the truck, lol, watching movies & football in the theatre room, our many nights & hours on the phone til 3 or 4 am when I had insomnia, how you laughed at me for paying $200 for a dog I thought was a shitzu but was actually a mut... You filled and prepared me for so many things over this short time. My heart aches so for LaTonya. From watching your love and bond for one another, I learned the institution of marriage in a new way, a pure and unconditional way, yes I was watching. I knew my goals but I learned how to orgastraight them. You taught me how to love my children as adults and not babies and my place in their lives now that they're adults. But more importantly you seen ME beyond all the smiles, the good cheer, the mask, you seen into my soul, the only other person to do that, was my dad. Your love (it's so hard for me to say, was) is undeniable. I hold deeply our conversation that evening at the hospital when you brought me to tears. Because not only did I feel the unconditional love, through all your pain, you loved me, more. I just wish I had a little more time to show you, I will be alright. But I think you know that already. After the tears on Saturday, yes we will party for you but it will never be the same without you.
