“ Uncle Joe,
It's hard to condense your legacy and impact into a few short words. From the time I was born until now, you've been here. You were a man of few words, but the life lessons you taught me will stay forever. The meaning of family, my love of jazz, and most important-how to shop for a good bargain . I'll miss your smile that lit up whatever room you were in. You are and will be truly be missed. Whenever I hear the soft notes of a jazz song or the sweet smell of a peice of cake I'll think of you. My godfather, my uncle. Rest well. Love always, Your goddaughter and neice, Ashley

Always and forever, uncle Joe was a wonderful son first, a very loyal and loving brother, a devoted father and grandfather, and the best uncle his many nieces and nephews could have. We will forever miss you uncle but we so love you and want the very best for you, so, we thank God for bringing you home. The Robinson family was right there waiting for you. Love you and see you someday soon. Love, Lethia
