“ Our deepest sympathies and condolences to Sylvia and all the McCune family. John was a mentor and like a brother to us. His wonderful children were like our children; our daughter treated like part of his family.

God blessed John with a zest for life and a heart for compassion, hospitality and perseverance. He could cook and entertain with a God inspired Zeal! John shared his bounty of spiritual nourishment as well as physical food: He was my beacon in dark and good times and will always be a true friend, brother, and confidant. I know John is now at peace and experiencing the outpouring of blessings God gives all His born-again children. I look forward to talking with John in eternity and telling him how he blessed and enriched our lives. R.I.P. brother, we shall meet again,

“ I have known John since 1987. He was a wonderful father and husband, always hard-working, kind, fun-loving and a gracious host. He and his wife have raised wonderful sons and daughters and he will be sorely missed.
