“ Dear Deloris, Jerome, & Family:

I cannot fathom the depth of your loss. After knowing Karl for more than 25 years, this seems so surreal. I never imagined this day would be here so soon. Although he was often quiet, he was gracious and kind. His wit and his smile brought such joy to those who were in presence because he was infectious and just so easy to love. It has been an honor to know a man with values and love that so very few exhibit.

This is going to be one of the hardest moments in your life, and it will take some time before you all begin to resume some level of normalcy. Please don't forget that when those painful moments arrive to lean on each other. Karl built a legacy within your family unit so use it. Deloris, Jerome, and Grandchildren you were his everything, his world.

I have many fond memories of him, but I especially remember the first time I came home with Deloris. It was the first time I met Karl. The house was clean, smelling oh so good, and it was not Deloris who cleaned it because Karl was holding a vacuum in his hand. I remember thinking to myself, “A husband who does house work.” Imagine that he loved to clean and vacuum.

I got to know a man whose world revolved around Deloris. I saw his love for her, and how much he protected her. I remember telling Deloris, “I want a marriage like yours.” You had to be around them to truly understand why I made this statement. It was so refreshing to be around them. I'm going to miss that because it is rare. I am missing you Karl.

I have been praying that you all find peace within. Continue to keep his memories alive and carry on in a manner that will make him proud as he continues to rest.

I love you all.
