As I was growing up and got into any misdemeanor my mom would say you are surely your father's child. Well I for a long time I having only brothers before me couldnt relate. It took 50 years before I met and immediatly bonded with Thelma my father's child. Oh how I wish we could have had another 50 years or say 10 to enjoy and share her warmth and genuine love. My Mother's children join with me in expressions of sincere condolences to our dear sisterS family. May her legacy of peace and grace cover us in Jesus name.

Aunt Thelma has always been very special to me, a woman of class, very soft spoken, I've never heard her used a bad word, not once. She believed in God and family. She will forever be missed, her love will surely live on in the lives of her kids, grandkids and all who came in contact with her. To my cousin I pray that God grant you comfortable at this time. May her soul RIP.

“ Dear Sister Thelma ,My twin Brother, Michael and I walked to school together each day and sat in the same bench in class. Sister Thelma remained the same quiet and undisturbed individual as we matured in our village, Buxton.

My duties separated us and it was after some years that we resumed regular contact. This was fortunately because I was introduced to Brother William with whom Michael and i became "Buddy Friends"

At this time, her main concern was her children's development Sister Thelma made quiet deliberate decisions which were selectively shared. but provided much food for thought. Very often, Michael and I had reason to spend time "re-discussing" her more recent observations Today we certainly share the view that Sister Thelma and Brother William have raised a "brood of the finest chickens." They will definitely miss her counsels and interjections.

Despite the physical distance, Sister Thelma never forgot her roots and its contribution to our lives. She believed in honesty and humility as essential qualities to success in life, and she showed this both personally and in the manner in which she raised her children. As we often remarked and as is manifested in the behaviour of her children, drinking Company Trench Water was part of whom we are.

Over time, we recognised her development and contribution to the progress of "The Business." This was a reflection of her heritage and roots.

We are gratified that the children have manifested their thanks to their parents for their successes. To those who remain, take solace that she loved you all, you also loved her, and showed your love while she could appreciate it.

We look forward to continued togetherness and mutual support in their future efforts.

Our prayers are for Eternal Rest and God's Grace and Guidance during this period of deep loss and challenges for those whom she has left behind. As Christians, we share the belief that she is not dead, but has simply gone away to be with her Lord, William, and all of those whom she loved and have gone before.
