Dear Ms Bonner,

After ur death, I was really stern into becoming more of a better person in life. No matter how much I mourned, I stayed strong and persevered through everything. Things were formidable, but I kept going. I miss you tremendously. You were one great teacher. Ur presence always made me so happy i engaged conversations with you almost very day. I still cherish the nice memories we had as ur student. You only wanted the best for the people you loved, students and family. You were always proud of me and my peers for doing such a great job. I won't ever forget that. I really miss you. But I have learned how to cope with ur death. Griefing is not easy, but once you realize that everyone goes through grief, you don't feel alone and you get to express ur feelings to one another to anyone who has experienced grief and death. I still love you lots Ms Bonner. I still keep ur advice in mind and I thank you so much for making me a better person today. Rest easy

“ Ms Bonners passing has been and still is such a shock. I’m glad I had a chance to tell her again how impressed I am about her work ethic. She was a top notch professional and I am so blessed to have had her guidance and friendship at RCMS. I never hugged her. I regret that. I know how important her RCMS family was to her. I know how important her sister and niece were to her. I know she was private. I know she loved working with the kids at our school. She was devoted. She operated with integrity. She was beautiful inside and out. I salute you Kimberly Joyce Bonner. I miss you. It’s hard walking past your classroom. I know you’re in a better place. Rest in peace angel. You are my hero and I hope I was able to convey that to you during our last conversation. Your presence is definitely missed in our halls. I wish the family comfort, strength and blessings as you walk this walk. I hope your pain is eased just a bit to know how we at RCMS loved and appreciated Ms Bonner.

Daughters are often a mother's best friend, her ally, and her most precious treasure. For a father, a daughter is often the apple of his eye, his princess. It is no surprise then, that a parent's love for a daughter is so intense and selfless. For this reason, the loss of a you have brought on a range of difficult emotions including numbness, emptiness, disbelief, and deep sadness.

I thank God for allowing us to come together. You will be missed, especially our regular phone calls. Our love will never die. You have taken it with you through the valley of show of death for God is with you. God has sent a myriad of angels to escort you to his throne.

Know this you will forever be with us in spirit. Say hello to your mom and your dad. Erica, baby girl, Kathy, and I are standing here waving. We are so grateful God share you and thank you my child for our time together.
