“ It is healthy and honorable to weep at the loss of someone we love. Healthy because such passion must be released. Honorable because it is respectful to admit the importance of people who have loved and supported us... people who footprints cannot ever be matched.”
Yes, we still grieve her passing and yes, at times, we may weep still weep because we love and miss her so much. Yet, we do not dwell on her death; We celebrate her Life with thankful hearts.
God gave us a beautiful rose (Lillie, our niece and cousin) to enjoy his specified season.
When her pain became so great, our Loving Savior embraced her and return her to His Heavenly Garden. But her sweet perfume will remain in our hearts and minds forever.
