It was on this day July 6th in the summer of 1947 and something amazing happened. Linda Arnette, a robust baby girl was born at seven pounds and seven ounces at St. Johns' Hospital in Brooklyn, New York. Proud parents Queen Esther and Angus Carroll were more than excited to welcome their first-born child whose 73rd birthday would have been today. Instead today we celebrate Linda's home going, to be with her parents who preceded her in death.

Linda surrendered to be with the ancestors on Friday June 26, 2020. Daughter Chloe and sister Anita Lorraine watched as she opened her eyes, looked up to heaven and shrugged her shoulders as if to say READY, and took her last breath at 8:12 pm at Emory University Hospital in Atlanta, Georgia. Ironically, she waited until we played Tamela Mann's "Take Me to the King" and transitioned within 45 seconds of the song being played.

Linda grew up in Brooklyn and Queens NY. During her early years in Brooklyn Linda led a full and happy childhood. She attended Concord Baptist Church where she was baptized by "the dean of American preaching" Garner C. Taylor.

She attended New York City Public Schools where she excelled and received many commendations. She forged close friendships during those years that would last throughout her life.

When Linda was 11, she joined with nine other girls and formed a social club. The name search for this newly formed group would have special meaning for Linda. They decided on the name "Ebony Queens". Linda felt the name reflected their Black culture. At a young age she was a proud black teen that understood the Struggle; a catalyst which was later instrumental in molding Linda's social justice work and activism. After 60 years the Ebony Queens remain close friends and eight are alive; five are here today including Linda's spirit.

Linda would say, "Black people have been catching a hard time for too long." In the early 60's Linda begged her parents to let her ride one of the Freedom Buses to the South. She and one of her friends Cheryl Robinson (now deceased Ebony Queen) left for 125 street in Harlem to board a bus and head South. But the bus never came. Linda's parents were relieved; she was only 16 years old.

At age 18 Linda's character continued to blossom. She had developed a way with words, an even more vibrant personality and commanded center stage and an audience wherever she went. She had a lively spirit that was contagious and so was her smile. She loved people and later in her adult life many people stayed in her home when they had no place to live. She was encouraging, gave people hope and always made you laugh.

She graduated from Central Commercial High School in 1965 and immediately enrolled in Queensboro College and, went to work as a secretary at Chemical Bank's United Nations branch office. She used her love of the French language to land her a spot at this prestigious United Nations location. Working in this environment gave her an opportunity to story tell and interact with an international audience.

In the winter of 1966 Linda went to work for the National Urban League as an administrative assistant and trainer under the tutelage of Whitney Young and Vernon Jordan. In 1977 she relocated to Atlanta, Ga. where she continued to work for the Urban League in its Southern Regional Office.

Linda was excited to work for the "Movement". She had heard many stories of inequity told around the dinner table by her father Angus. He often spoke of Black folk's plight and the epic story of America's great migration including his own story of how at age 13 he left South Carolina with a family of Arabs on a watermelon truck.

Her passion for the "Movement" was further influenced by first hand experiences of discrimination. During family car trips to Louisiana and Mississippi she saw "colored only" bathrooms and water fountains. She vividly remembered having to eat potted meat and crackers on the side of the road while fighting off the nits; Black folk could not eat in white restaurants back then. The family had a 1956 blue Mercury Monterey, and, on the road, it provided a haven for family needs on those long journeys.

Linda poured her passion into her work. She excelled quickly at the League and in 1973 was asked to attend the National Urban League's annual board retreat in Tarrytown, NY where she was responsible for recording the minutes of the meeting; she was an exceptional stenographer. She had an opportunity to interact with the Leagues' board members which was comprised of more than 50 corporate CEOs. The day ended with Linda having a gin martini and holding her own with Nelson Rockefeller, then governor of New York and his wife Happy; Linda was a cool 26-year old.

In 1977, Linda met Ray A. Colbert and they married and had one daughter Chloe. The two purchased what Linda considered to be her dream home that she imagined as a young girl in the Marcy projects. Many precious memories were made at 4285 Pleasant Ridge Road. Linda spent years being the 'hostess with the mostest' entertaining friends and family, bringing laughs, love, and smiles to all that she came across. Until her last days she acted as the family historian, she kept up with family history on both her and her late husband's side of the family, often being told she had the mind of an elephant able to recall memories with such vivid accuracy.

Linda loved to dance, liked all kinds of music, and often said in her past life she was a Blues singer that died incredibly young. I am sure y'all heard her rendition of SUMMERTIME. She sang it all the time to make you happy. She sang it to break the ice and she sang it to the little people at John Hope Elementary School where she served as the school registrar and secretary for many years.

Cooking and enjoying food from a variety of cultures was a favorite of hers. She could describe the differences in a cake recipe based on taste and knew the right ingredients to achieve the best cake grain possible.

In the early 2000's Linda changed careers and became a foster parent. It is here where paths crossed, and she met a fine young man Ricky Lamar Nixon. Linda was putting her energy into helping young people and it paid off. Her baby Ricky is here today and in his own words, "JOB WELL DONE auntie. She taught me everything, even how to iron my clothes. "She considered him both her son and grandson and often spoke of how good of a heart he has as well as the hope that her love and influence was enough for him to succeed in life.

Prior to meeting Ricky, she formed a deep bond with one of her fosters Naomi Smith. Although their time together was brief, Linda grew rather fond and attached to young Naomi and wished that she, was able to keep her longer. Despite the years and distance between them, their bond nor love never lessened and until her last hours of life both Ricky and Naomi were able to express their love and gratitude to the only mother they acknowledged as their own holding her hand at the hospital and letting her know they loved and appreciated her love, her kindness, and her patience with them.

During the last 2 months of her life God gave Linda and granddaughter Samone the time they needed to grow and bond. As Linda's illness progressed her granddaughter went to stay with her so that she could help her beloved 'Nani'. Because of the pandemic, many of life's daily distractions no longer existed and the two were able to strengthen their bond and get to know each other on an entirely different level. Despite being ill, Linda was overjoyed that her one and only granddaughter came to stay with her and care for her. She was beyond proud of the woman that her granddaughter had come to be!

Linda leaves to continue her legacy of love her pride and joy Chloe Colbert (David Moore) and granddaughter Samone Moore. Brother Wayne Adams (Doris) of California, confidant and sister Anita Lorraine Green and nephew Corey James of Marietta, Ga. and grandnephew Christopher Simpson of Chicago, best friends Betty Wigfall, Dolly Dudley, Jackie Moore, Evylon Harris, Emma Roberson, Shirley Sanford Burns, and the Ebony Queens (Beverly Butler, Linda Pharr, Sidney Ryals, Yvette Pharr, Lillian Morrison, Connie Foreman, Beverly Brown and Anita Green) a multitude of relatives and dear friends. See you on the other side Linda. May peace and paradise be with you until we meet again.

Visitation and Funeral Services for Linda Colbert will be held beginning 1:00PM on Monday July 6, 2020. These services will be recorded and Streamed Live. In the event the service is interrupted at any time due to technical issues, the entire service will be uploaded and available for viewing on this same link later in the day.

“ Mommy I love you and will miss you. I know you might not have been my birth mom but you were the only mother I knew. Even though I was placed with you for a little while. Our bond was like no other. Mother asked my real mom could she have my permanent and was told no. But through out all of my years mother and I have remained close. But one thing I know for sure is that one day I will see mother again. I love you so much and I thank God for allowing us to have the time we shared.

My fondest memories of "Aunt Linda" is no matter what it was she told it to these ways, straight, to the point, honestly and pulled no punches whether you like it or not.

I will never forget that and will keep the memory forever

“ My Only-est. Linda knew what I meant when I called her that. I will truly always cherish the talks we had being ‘Sisters-in-Law’s to two brothers. I always knew her love and support as the younger, to be so, so real. She would call me or I would call her during some tough times as well as good fun times. Those times were ours. But knowing Linda, she made us all feel that we were her favorite person. Her love for us never let go. She stayed in. I will always love Linda Colbert. My Only-est. Rest In Peace and Power until we meet again. 📖 🙏 🙏 🙏

“ To my childhood friend and Ebony Queen sister, you will be sorely missed; growing up with sisters that were so much a part of my life. Having shared so many special memories will always keep me connected. Even though our paths went in different directions, I was always happy to reconnect with my Ebony sisters. My condolences and prayers are with my dear friend Lorraine, Linda's daughter, cousin Wayne and all the family and friends that are grieving her loss. All of you will be in my prayers.

“ I grew up with Linda and Lorraine in the Marcy Projects. We had a group of 10 girls in a club we formed and called ourselves the "Ebony Queens". Life changed and we all moved. from the projects. Linda was the glue that kept the group together. She would call and check up on all of us. I will never forget her kindness to us all opening up her heart and home to all who might need any kind of support she could offer. I will always remember her immortal words: Ooh Lorraine, I'm gonna tell Momma".

You fought the good fight of life and through it all you did .well.
God Bless you until we all meet again
Rest in Peace.

“ Linda you will definitely be missed...I remember my brother and I spending time with you and Chloe growing up and just remembering your amazing, witty sense of humor. My mother Kay and Dad Malik always shared the best stories with us about you and great times with you in NY. The last time I saw you, I was so excited to see you and introduce you to my new husband. I had already told him so many stories about you. I had promised you that I would not let so much time pass before we saw each other again....but time got away from me and now I will never get that time back. Thank you for always showing me so much love. I love you. I know you are high above us watching over all of us. From Me, My mom Kay, my dad Malik, my brother Jibri, my husband Marcus and my son Tre.... we love you and will always keep you close to our hearts. Rest easy Queen! Our condolences to all of the family as we celebrate her life 🙏

“ As young girls growing up in Marcy Projects, Bklyn, I met Linda through my best friend Shirley Sanford. Through the years, we all remained friends no matter what state we lived in. When both of my children went to Georgia colleges, Linda looked after them. My son, Malik, lived with Linda & Chole for a short while. Linda will be remembered for her hospitality and kindness.
Rest now my friend. I am sure your parents welcomed you with open arms.

“ I first met Linda several years ago through my neighbor and her sister Anita. She and I clicked immediately and spent about an hour chatting and laughing. We always were laughing about something. I enjoyed seeing her whenever the opportunity presented itself because she was an interesting person to talk to with a great insight on things. The last time I saw her, she was at Anita's. She and I were walking up and down the street for her to get some exercise. As usual, we were having fun and laughing about something we saw that we both found to be hilarious. That is how I will remember her. She is now in heaven and I am quite sure she's stirring it up up there as she did here. She will be missed but I think the stars are shining just a little brighter with Linda in heaven. God Speed.

“ Linda was my FIRST friend when I moved to NY in 1964. She would tease me on my country accent and repeat what I would say in a heavy country drawl. She was so incredibly smart, outspoken and commanded the room everywhere we went. The years never changed Linda. she remained that incredibly smart, outspoken and incredibly altruistic person. I was so lucky to have her as a friend. We were all lucky to have her as a friend. Missing you!!

“ Back in the day, there was a special bond among friends – Linda, Lorraine, Wayne, Johnny, Kay, and me. We didn’t do everything together, but we did everything that mattered together. It was a foundation for our lives to follow. It was a special time. Trips to Coney Island where we danced in the street to Martha & The Vandellas and sampled affordable wine beneath the boardwalk. New York beaches, nightclubs, and basement parties. We were essentially a drama-free support group that was there for each other with fun and laughter. I’ll remember Linda for her beautiful smile, inquisitive eyes, biting wit and wisdom. Beyond the memories of yesterday, in a way, we all became an indelible part of each other. To Lorraine and family, it's in moments like these that we often find words to be seemingly empty, shallow and our lives r all but disconnected. Rest assured and know we r with you and Jesus as well . As I ponder the fond heartfelt moments of love, joy and laughter, they provide a source of strength, courage and reassurance to continue the race that Linda has run well. Time has separated but Eternity has embraced, to be absent from the body is to be present with the Lord. Come unto me all who labor And r heavy leaden and I will give you rest.

“ Emma Walker-Roberson
"Reflections of Linda."

Linda and I met in middle school in Brooklyn, NY and the friendship continued for sixty years. She was fun to be with, always there with a smile and great laugh, interesting, brought a new perspective to everything going on around us, lovable , because her kindness was so thoughtful, caring and came naturally for her, and never at a loss for what to do to brighten someone's day.

Linda's friendship was precious not only in the shade, but in the sunshine of the lives she touched. She was a true friend which is the greatest of all blessings.

So rest my friend, you have earned it. Your time on this earth has been a blessing to me and my entire family, and to all who knew you.

Until we meet again, I thank God that you are only one wonderful memory away.

To the Family, thank God for Linda's life, praying for strength and comfort for you.

“ Any friend of Anita’s, also had to know Linda and their brother Wayne. I’ve have heard so many laugh out loud stories, of their childhood and growing up in Brooklyn. So, it was very difficult to witness Linda’s health challenges over the last several months. But Linda’s family was there by her side week after week, and month after month, with love and encouragement. The prayer was always for Linda to be restored to the woman that we all knew and loved. But GOD had a different plan.

May Anita, Chloe and their family find peace and comfort in the infinite memories, in the joy and the laughter, that they shared over the years.

“ Linda you were a good mother, daughter, dear sister & spirited friend. You Will Be Missed. My fondest memories were in Chgo - when in the spur of the moment, on a Saturday afternoon in a bleating rain, we went to see Howard Hewett - in an aging movie theater, down the street from your sister. We were sitting close enough to touch to his shoes. He was fantastic & we had a ball, even though we got wet. When you moved back to ATL, I helped you drive back. Of course we arrived during rush hour - which was a bear! You fought a good fight girl, & did it your way. God has said it's time; taken you in his arms & given you eternal peace. You will remain forever, in our heart.

“ More than 50 years ago when we were living in Queens NewYork, on 141street I met Linda & Lorraine and their cousin Wayne. The Temptations song “The way you do the things you do” was just released and Linda and her sister played that record until the 45 melted on the record player spindle, and so many years later when I hear that tune I always remember both Linda and her sister. Wishing her family at this time peace, comfort and lovingly memories. I feel blessed to to have known the sisters and will continue to cherish those precious moments. Rest In Peace Linda, deepest condolences to the family.

“Linda was family. I was always calling her for advice. As the president of urban league, she was my leader. I could ask her about programs and her experience as a national urban league employee help me so much. I loved her as a friend, advisor, mentor. I was so please that she attended the Maya Angelou event where we honored Dr. Angelou, but what people don't know is that Linda helped give me the idea to name a hospital after her. One of the only hospital named after a black woman in America. Linda help me with idea! I'm working in South Africa now and I use Linda advice to deal with Prime Ministers and Deputy Presidents of countries all over the continent. I will miss her laugh and I will miss her advice, but I will carry her strong and loving spirit with me all over the world. Id like to leave Linda with a Maya Angelou quote that i believes directly describes Linda and it is "My mission in life is not merely to survive, but to thrive; and to do so with some passion, some compassion, some humor, and some style." Linda you accomplished your mission and now God has an angel who live touch others in a way that cannot be taken away. Rest easy! I love you

“ I had not seen Linda in 50 years and saw her 2 years ago in Atlanta! It was liked we were back in high school laughing and remembering growing up in Queens, NY. I am so glad we reconnected and will cherish that time together

Rest In Peace my dear friend. I'm going to miss your pretty smile

Deepest sympathy to Anita and family.

The Carroll's was my next door neighbor back in the sixties. They were family. I lost contact with Linda and Anita for over thirty seven plus years. On June 1st, a small voice, out of the blue, told me to search Chloe Colbert on FB and I did. That was how I reconnected with my friends. I had two short conversations with Linda and I prayed for her in hospice. I realize that God was at work through all this. I am grateful for those short but significant moments.

Sleep in peace my friend, my sister. I will cherish the memories. Love you

My deepest condolences to Anita, Chloe and family.

“ Linda,

You have been a staple in my life as long as I can remember. You have been family to my family, sisters with my mother, and cried with us for my sister. While my love for you was quiet, your love for me was always loud and came with a big smile and huge hug..... I will always appreciate you for the conversions and validations and for being unapologetically you....you were priceless.

Miss you on this daybut will love your memory everyday.

“ We are so sorry about the passing of our beloved cousin Linda. We remember lots of laughter and love whenever she was around. Linda gave you what she had to say straight from the heart, smiled, laughed and kept it moving. Just a jewel that will be missed; (Bernice) I will dearly miss the talks and laughter. Family is what she was to me and I will miss you dearly. God has gained a precious angel. We pray for the family (Chloe, Simone and Anita) to be strengthen with the memories of love that she left behind. Much love to you all and our sincere Condolences.

“ Daron F. Brooker by way of Billings MT.
If some one would have told me that you would be gone today I wouldn't believe it. So many phone conversations in which you gave me hope that things would always workout. Truly, it's sad to see you go but God Knows best. I send my love to the family. Stay Strong and know that God has us all and our hope is that we shall meet again. Rest on Auntie.

“ I met Linda in 1974 when we were both employed by the National Urban League(NUL), located at 477 Madison Avenue, NY, NY. Linda immensely enjoyed her employment with the NUL and the Atlanta Urban League, from where she would ultimately retire. Because we hit it off, I was soon to meet Linda's sister Anita, nephew Corey, Father and mother, Angus and Esther, and cousins Wayne, Kaye and June. My relationship with Linda and her family grew tighter as the years grew long, and I consider myself part of the Carroll family.

Linda always carried herself like a lady and made you feel comfortable in her home, where she would always put on the spread; she was a fabulous cook who enjoyed entertaining her many, many friends and family. When I tasted Linda's Collard greens for the first time, I told my mother to give up cooking. I guess the greens were what led a New Yorker like me to Georgia.

I will so miss Linda and her warm smile.

To my dear Linda I say no more to you today than I have said to you through our many years of friendship. I love you for being my friend and my chosen sister. I am so blessed that God placed us on our Life journey together and although yours here on earth has ended I look forward to when we meet again. I am grateful for all the love and support we shared through all the highs and lows of life and That we remained together to the end. Your beautiful smile and zest for life will stay in my heart forever. Rest in Peace my dear sister.
