

Marvin Gibson

December 31, 1942 - October 4, 2025

Mr. Marvin Gibson aka “Birdnest Man” or “043” of Covington, GA passed on October 4, 2025.

Early Life

Marvin Gibson, the son of Albert Gibson, the son of Bossie(Bosie) Gibson, the son of Julius Gibson, the son of Pharo Gibson who all share paternal ancestry with the Lissongo People of the modern Central African Republic, was born on December 31st, 1942 in Andrews, SC. He grew up as the baby of the family, the last to take flight from the nest and soar to the heights that awaited him. He grew up with fond memories of agriculture, cooking, shooting, and instruction in the ways of the Lord. This nurturing ground is what gave Marvin his great work ethic and technical know-how. He attended Rosemary High School where he proudly drove the school bus until graduation in 1963.

Education and Career

As a result of segregation in the Jim Crow South and the untimely death of his father, Marvin followed the path of the great migration seeking a better life, just as his older siblings had. Wanting to chart his own course, Marvin decided not to relocate to Rochester where most of his siblings were, but to Brooklyn, NY. While there, Marvin was under the watchful eye of his church-going, God-fearing, no-nonsense big sister, Margaret Burgess. With a family to provide for, Marvin got straight to work building his skillset with different jobs until he landed a manufacturing position with the General Motors Manufacturing Plant in Tarrytown where he would spend more than two decades until its closure in 1996.

Marvin was a proud United Auto Worker's (UAW) Union member and supporter. He excelled in the Inspection Department as a result of his keen eye for detail, sharp critical thinking, and tactical problem solving skills. After the shut down of the Tarrytown plant, Marvin relocated to Doraville, GA where he joined the team there. He concluded over 35 years of service with General Motors by retiring around the time of the Doraville Plant shutdown in 2008.

Personal Life and Interests

Outside of work, Marvin loved cooking for his family—especially his beloved wife, Dorothy, fishing, shooting, gardening, electronics, working on cars, and building relationships. The running joke between his family and friends was that “Marvin knows everything!” Even though he never made this claim, he had no problem confidently providing unsolicited instruction that he expected to be followed. He was known for his abundance of wit and humor. Even while sick in the hospital, he made family and staff alike laugh with joy. Marvin loved his family deeply and was always willing to support. His generosity flowed through every aspect of his life — through the time he gave, the kindness he shared, and the resources he devoted to uplifting others and the causes he cherished.

In the CB radio world, Marvin's name was “Bird Nest Man” a.k.a “043”. Even to this day people call him by his CB handle. He had an extensive interest in the CB Radio world—so much so that the electronic equipment in his vehicles and house would interfere with the tv signals of surrounding residents. If you were with him when the CB radio in the car had problems, he would pull over, jump to the back of the car, ask you to pick up the mic and give you the command “key down on it”, and when he was satisfied with the signal, he would say “get up off it.” It wouldn’t matter who you were, you would be volunteered to assist.

Family

Marvin Gibson will be sorely missed by his family, friends, many of his former coworkers, neighbors, and people whose lives he touched over the years. Marvin is survived by his wife Dorothy Gibson, his brothers (Charles Gibson [Dorothy] and Robert Gibson [Sarah]), his children (Jason Marvin Gibson [Shannon], Danielle Bernadette Gibson, and Courtney Nicole Gibson), grandchildren (Tiffany Renee Evans-Taylor [Jimmie Lee], Corey Delroy Evans, Amariah Jalisa Gibson, Seraiah Raquel Gibson, King Khai Brummitt, Kaleb Ja’azaniyah Jason Gibson), and great grandchildren (Tatiana Destiny Taylor, Courtney Michelle Evans, Jahmon Jeremiah Taylor, Samya Nicole Evans, Jayshon Jameer Taylor, Corey Delroy Evans Jr., and Gage Christopher Evans), his Bonus children (Natalie Hannans [Jeffery], Matthew Bass, Daniel Bass [LaSharlene], grandchildren (Sharee Sinkler [Carson], Brandon Bass, Alicia Bass, and Daniel Bass), and great grandchildren (Shaun Hannans, Kaliyah Bass, Leila Sinkler and Eryn Sinkler). He is also survived by a multitude of beloved nieces and nephews.

Marvin was preceded in death by his mother & father—Albert and Jannie Gibson, his daughter Marva Denise Evans whom he shared with his former wife Eulah Davis, his brothers (Lawrence), Sisters (Margaret Burgess, Emma Lousie Scott, Annie Belle Grayson, Virgie G. Nixon, Lucedine June, and Daisy B. Snow) and his baby granddaughter Khloe Joelle Gibson.

“ Im on my daughter Facebook, just want to say a few words. Hello I'm Charlie Gibson one of Marvin's older brothers. I will miss talking on the phone with him about the Lord and going to church. I remember as a child going to the woods to hunt squirrels and remembering our dad brought all of his sons a 12 gauge shot gun. We would come home from hunting with a bag full of squirrels, and mother would cook us squirrels, rice and gravy. My dad own a smoked house we had 100's of chickens and hogs and my parents would share the meat with our neighbors and friends. I will miss my brother. Im sending my condolences to the family. May you rest in peace 🙏 and I will see you again in heaven!

“ So sorry for your loss—our loss. God knows best. May He give us strength and peace during this time, family and friends.

I have so many good memories with Unk. One of them is that he could make you laugh, make you mad, give you good advice, or make you second-guess yourself for even coming to him. Either way, you were going to remember Unk (lol).

When I last saw Unk, we were having a discussion. He said to me, “I see you still have a hard head.” Now, that’s something he’s been saying to me ever since I was a little girl, and here I am grown! I said, “I’m the baby of the family—babies tend to have a hard head.”

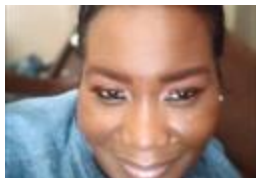

*Unk said, “The baby? How old are you now?”
I said, “Fifty-five years old.”*

(By now, you know Unk doesn’t bite his tongue—he speaks his mind, lol.)

*Unk looked at me and said, “Fifty-five? That don’t mean nothing to me—I’ve got shoes in my closet older than you!”
(We all laughed.) In my mind, all I could think was, here we go (lol).*

Unk, I will cherish all the good memories. You will always be in my heart. I will miss you, and I will love you always.

“ Sorry for your loss. I met Marvin and his wife Dorothy. Immediately they made me feel like family. Marvin's demeanor was meek however his ability to organize events for his many family and friends were impeccable. He would give an you an assignment in his preparation. He was a wonderful husband, father, and friend to all that had the opportunity to meet this incredible man. He will be missed. Sleep in peace Brother. We loved you however God loves you most. Saying come on home son. His journey on the side was completed.
