“ Mildred, or Candy as she was was affectionately known to me as my aunt, was one of my favorite aunts. She was a quiet soul, but always very nice to me and my children when she was in our presence. I'm glad my aunt is with our savior Christ now as she has no more troubles in this world to worry her.

I know "she" is elated to be at God's side as she was a God fearing woman and so loved the Lord. I have to adjust my attitude to not be selfish and wish she was back here with her loved ones so "we" won't be in pain. For it is not what we want or desire, but what God deems his will and his will was for my aunt to come home.

Her birth was foretold as was her death. My condolences go out to my cousin Octavious and all of my Georgia family.

Love,

Necia Drake-Thompson (sending love from Washington, D.C)

“ Today, we lay our eldest sister to rest in the arms of GOD. Loss of a love one always hurts, but to know that she was truly a Solider of God and I will see her again on the other side is reassuring.
