“ As a little girl I was my Auntie's shadow. I wanted to go everywhere with her. She was a loving and giving person, she was the "cool" aunt. She taught me how to snap my fingers, she gifted my brother and I our first record player, and she taught me how to sew. My aunt thought of me "like a daughter"; an honorable title which I was blessed to receive by her. I thank God for every memory, every conversation, and lots of laughter.
