While the rest of the world carries on as though nothing has happened, remember that others know your world will never be the same. And day after day, when you might think people have forgotten, we'll still be caring about you. May God give you & yours the strength doing your time of need.

There are no perfect words to share with Noah's family for the grievous loss they are dealing with. It's not enough to just say we are sorry for your loss, even though we very much are. You will never get over this, and we truly understand that. Our son, PFC Zachary Boland, died from illness during boot camp at Parris Island in 2016. Not in a million years do you think your child will die in military basic training. So, we share your loss, and hope that family, friends, and whatever else you find strength from will help you in this time. May Noah's memory always live on. -Gold Star Parents Bob & Sam Boland

My deepest condolences and prayers to the Evans Family. This is a road no parent wants to travel. But we know that our God doesn't make any mistakes. I pray that not only will God grant you understanding but that he grants you peace that surpasses all understanding as he said in his word. I pray that God gives you strength in the days, months and years to come. Shawana McCall
