“ Today, I thought about the memorable moments my cousin Onslow and I spent together in childhood and since.

Despite the many challenges of his life, his optimism and resilience enabled him to serve his race and nation as a proud Marine, HBCU grad, and federal public servant. Most admirably, Onslow was a loving husband, and a dutiful father to his daughter Erika.

His was a life well lived, and I'm glad to know that he crossed over faithfully on his own terms. And while I'll miss Onslow's physical presence: the memory of his loving spirit will live on.

May His Soul Rest in Peace and Power!
