“ I have not been able to write this before now cus I did not want to say goodbye. I did not want to believe it's true.

Seeing you today has forced me to accept that you're really gone and this was not just a scary dream.

I am hurt, I miss you dearly and I am still in shock. But...

I just want to take a moment to say THANK YOU.

Thank you for coming into my life and being a person of positive influence, a mother, a friend, an example.

Thank you for being a strong woman, for fiercely protecting and providing for the ones you love.

Thank you for showing me how to unconditionally love my sons.

Thank you for being the strong person that you are and for embracing your own path in life uncaring for the opinions of others.

Thank you for the confidence you exuded and the care in which you took for yourself.

Thank you for the long chats where we could talk about anything. Of all things, I'll miss those the most.

Thank you for being you and for gracing my life with your presence.

Thank you for setting a flame in my heart to live a life that would make you proud and make your heart light up. I love you ❤️

“ Patrice was like family to me , a big sister and friend. she got me reading, any books she read, got read by me after, helped me with homework, helped me iron my uniforms a few times. She is patient, kind. She accompanied me to Kingston for my interview to start my nursing career. Love you Patrice. You're always in my heart even when we are don't see each other for ages. A ray of sunshine. Farewell my friend.

“ Patrice my cousin, how I remember the summers when you came to visit , the lovely ,innocent childhood conversations and laughter that we shared.

Your playfulness, your laughter, how your eyes lit up when you were excited about anything.

In later years as adults, we would meet up at our annual Boxing Day family reunions , what good times , what fun, this is where we caught up with each others' lives , the children , the accomplishments and our respective journey.

You will be forever, in my heart. I am comforted by the knowledge that those whom you love never really go away. They remain in our hearts forever.

I hope your children, sisters and brothers , husband ,and your dear mom ,your nieces, nephews, and other relatives will also find comfort in that belief, as well.

Patrice from the moment I heard about your passing I was saddened by the news. My last memory of you was Sunday 10/8/2023. Your comforting words to me when you knew I was going in the hospital for Surgery. You told me not to worry and trust God everything was going to be just fine. I never thought in a lifetime that would be our last conversation together 😞 You were such a beautiful person with a soft spoken voice , a hands on person , a people person always willing and made yourself involved when LSCF have functions. I am so glad I had the opportunity to meet a dear sister like you. I will definitely miss complimenting you on your beautiful thick hair especially when you wear the twist. Romans 8:28 assure us that no suffering is wasted, and God is always at work for our good and his glory. Sleep on my dear sister in christ. God has greater plans for you in Heaven and called you home.

(Comforting words to the family and her dear friends)

Those we love don't go away, they walk beside us every day." "Always loved, never forgotten, forever missed" "Forever in our hearts.

Please accept my heartfelt sympathy on the loss of a Mother, Wife, Sister, Aunt and Friend My thoughts and prayers are with you and your family.

*I meet Patrice at church, she was soft spoken, willing to help around the church. She talked about the love she had for God her pastor and her family. Patrice while we missed you here, God said your work here is finished. You leaves behind a legacy of Love ❤️
Sleep in Peace my dear Sister. You will always be missed*

Patrice the many years I know you , you were a true friend. You are gone but will not be forgotten. Will always treasure the moment we shared at work and other pass times. You were a fun person to be around. I know my niece is proud to have a mom like you. We all look forward to the resurrection hope where death will be a thing of the pass.
