“ Rachel and I join the Junior Achievement program. We made Christmas Ornaments and our instructor would drive the students around to sell the ornaments. Lol...Rachel would always sell her ornaments and I could not. Rachel said " watch me and we gonna go to this house." We went to the house, rung the doorbell and the owner wanted to know who was knocking...and I gave my name instead of Junior Achievement name. Rachel and I laugh for days and months about that. I shared my profit with her in return of her help. We grew up together before the first grade.
