“ I will always hold dear the fondest of memories for Regina, for which I've worked with for more than two decades. I will miss her smile, and willingness to take on anything asked of her. She was the most senior of all the Systems Operators, and also the most knowledgeable. When she called, I knew there was a serious problem. Her wit and humor was always refreshing, and her concern for the customers admirable. I rested well when I knew she was on duty watching over the systems that were responsible for getting hundreds of millions of airline passengers to their destinations each year. May she rest with eternal life.

My sympathies go out to her family and other friends who mourn her passing, for she brought such delightful rays of sunshine to those that knew her, and whose lives she touched. May she live on in our hearts and remembrances. She will be dearly missed.

Coworker and Friend*
