“ OMG!!!! I just cant believe on here saying something about the love I have for you after the loss of you. I try my best to block it because I still feel like it's not real. I meet you when you were 14 yrs. old. WE both connected as sister and brother. There was a love connection that brought us together as siblings. You always made me laugh every time and those texts messages was so hilarious. My heart aches so bad. We were so happy on Easter Day. Me, you and Dawnesha was on the back porch laughing and talking about how we never knew the little things that were important to us. After that me and you both went and took pictures of the kids. We were side by side laughing and playing. We went in the house, set on your mom sofa, you ask me, can you get on my Snapchat, of course I let you. You laugh so hard at the pictures you were taking of yourself. I wish like hell I could have took one with us.... YOU were always around when I call you. If you didn't have a way to get our house, lil bro I would come and pick u up. Damn, Ima miss you sooooo much. They tell me it will get better each day. I cry so much for you lil bro. Words cant express what you mean to me. I ask the Lord to give me strength with my heartache. I cry everyday. Lil bro I know you in better place. Please, please watch over us. Richard (Big Boy) Willis I will always love you. RIH my lil bro in law. .Love always.

“To say I'm devastated is putting it lightly, there will never be another who can make me laugh, cuss, cry and laugh all in the same conversation. You are one of the best parts of my life and my world will rotate differently from now on. I love you little brother, Richy Rich forever!
