“ To the entire family of Ricky, please accept my condolences in the loss of your loved one. We both worked for the same company but our respective teams didn't interface with one another. My only encounter with Ricky was to say a friendly hello and to see him running around in the office with that big smile on his face looking to get something accomplished. I will be praying for the family asking God to grant you much peace during this time of sorrow!

As we approach the anniversary of Rick's passing, I'm reminded of his legacy of giving and caring for others. Rick was one of the most generous individuals I've ever known, and he would give equally of his time and money to individuals from all walks of life. I recall an instance where someone took advantage of Rick's generosity, and his reply was that he was OK with it because he knew he'd be blessed.

He loved his family fiercely, and I cannot recall a single day that passed where he did not bring up his daughters and how important they were in his life. Their smiling faces greeted me every time I visited Rick's office, and he took every opportunity to talk about their amazing achievements and how proud he was of them. I know Rick is looking down from above now and smiling upon his wonderful daughters as they grow into young women.

I keep Rick's memory alive in my daily life, and I will never forget the lessons of generosity and love he left for all of us.
