

Robert Darren Little, Sr.

January 31, 1966 - March 9, 2025

Born on January 31, 1966, in Long Branch, New Jersey, Robert was raised alongside his eldest brother, Leonardo, by Canzader and Herbert Little. As a talented young athlete, he lettered in both football and wrestling before matriculating as one of the first Black graduates of Plainfield High School in Plainfield, Illinois. Upon graduation, Big Red initially took his talents to Millikin University in Central Illinois as a leading running back and wrestler before transferring to the University of the District of Columbia. Here, a chance encounter in an English Composition course would lead to him meeting the love of his life, the then, Candice Williams. Following their nuptials in 1985, held in Birmingham, Alabama, Robert and the now, Dr. Candice Little, grew their family over several relocations before eventually planting roots in the Atlanta, GA metro area just ahead of the 1996 Olympic Games. Over many years, Rob gave back as a volunteer football coach throughout the DeKalb County area, and as a dedicated band parent for the “Kings of Halftime” at M.L. King Jr. High School in Lithonia.

Robert leaves to cherish his memory his wife of 39 years, Dr. Candice Little; children Robert II, Ebony, Herbert, Dominique, Iesha, and Destiny; and seven grandchildren Nylah, Kaliyah, Shanti, Antwan, Starr, Robert (Bo) III, Skylar and counting.

“ My fondest memories of my big cousin is when he was in college and my parents would pick him up for church on Sundays. I was just a kid but it was the first time I saw someone wear a sport-coat with the sleeves rolled up and the collar “popped”. I remember thinking, I have a cousin that is cool. 😎 God’s love and peace to you cousin Candice and family.
