“ I'm glad that Joel and I were able to attend Coach's memorial service, as it was very uplifting, just like our ole' Coach. He was also so positive and instructive to those of us in the Coca-Cola Running Club. He would tell me to "run tall" and made me feel valued by saying I had a lot of heart. Joel assisted Coach with our corporate track meets. Coach was appreciative of his help because it was so daunting due to so many rules. In later years after our budget was taken away, Coach continued to work part-time at our health club, and he was very entertaining and helpful to all of us who worked out. I was sad when our health club was outsourced, and I could no longer see Coach. I kept thinking we should get together for lunch after I retired, but now it's too late. Coach is entertaining everyone in Heaven, I'm sure, since he was so warm, loving and entertaining on Earth. Rest in Peace, dear Coach! Trenice Mullis (Dubow) and Joel Dubow

“ Thank you, Coach Hindu!

As I was preparing my team to load the bus on the way to our Spring Break track meet, I received the news that one of my beloved coaching mentors passed away. I had just communicated with him a few days ago, and we were trying to make plans for a catch-up lunch. More proof that time waits for no one. If you need to speak with someone, do it right away!

I am blessed to be a part of the many young men and women that he mentored and coached over the years. I was first introduced to him as a 10th grader through the D.C. Express Track Club. He knew my dad was a pastor, so he gave me the nickname "Preacha." His ability to communicate with teenagers gave me and so many others confidence and knowledge of how to be a champion on the track and off. He, along with my other coaching mentor Ron Williams, taught me as a high school student how to coach track. Coach Henderson didn't waste his words, nor did he put up with nonsense. As a man, I grew to learn that he was best friends with my college coach, Dr. Grant Dungee, who mentored me at Albany State. I never knew this while competing there (Now That's Old School Hand Me Down Mentorship!) In my more recent years with him, I learned of his passion for art and his dedication to so many organizations. He was just simply "Coach Hindu." A man, husband, father, coach, mentor, and friend.

I love you, Coach, and thank you for all of the wise advisement. Rest on, Coach. You have fought the good fight, and now your race has been won...

Please keep his family in your prayers during this season of loss.
