

Ronald Bernard McKenzie

January 1, 1951 - December 22, 2010

A Memorial Service for Mr. Ronald Bernard McKenzie of Alpharetta, GA will be held at 1:00pm on Friday, January 7, 2011 at our North Gwinnett Chapel 201 Morningside Drive, Buford, GA (770) 945-9999

Tribute Wall

CD

“ Ron was a true gentleman and will be missed by all who knew him. I knew Ron through Carter House Gallery and my daughter, Sharon worked with him in Atlanta. I always enjoyed visiting the gallery and talking about art and family with him. i can still see him in his white linen shirt looking like a portrait ready to be painted. I'm so sorry to hear about his untimely passing and hope his family will be comforted by warm memories. I'm also sorry I can't be there for the memorial service but I'm in Texas caring for my latest grandchild.
Carolyn Doherty

Carolyn Doherty - January 07, 2011 at 12:00 AM

FS

“ Ron had always accused me of being the reason he left his cushy position in the MSA New Jersey office for his demanding job at MSA corporate headquarters. I was a native Yankee having grown up on Long Island and transferred with MSA to Atlanta in 1975. I had a number of long talks with Ron about transferring and tried to honestly answer his concerns about the South. He may have been initially skeptical, but I know after a short period of time that he realized he made the right decision. I also know that MSA was a much better company with Ron in his position in Atlanta comforting the many lost souls and their range of complaints. Years ago, Ron and I solved a lot of problems, real and perceived, over a few cold beers. He was a dear friend. Over the last 20 years, we did not see that much of each other but we stayed in touch with email and an occasional lunch. I last saw Ron on December 17th at Joe Terry's Memorial Service and he was the same old Ron. He just never seemed to change. Unfortunately, the little time I spent with him was not enough. I will not be able to attend Ron's Memorial Service as my wife is having rotator cuff surgery on Friday morning. My condolences are with you and all Ron's many friends. Ron will be missed.

Ferrall Sumrell - January 05, 2011 at 12:00 AM