“ I have known Shareeta since she started working at Magellan and have interacted with her in some form through the years. She was so knowledgeable about the tasks she was assigned and always followed through. She was a humble learner and was always willing to pivot and change the way she was doing something when she learned a better way of doing it. She was very down to earth and kind. Humble would be the word I would use to describe her best. She will truly be missed. Praying God's peace over her family. May Shareeta's beautiful life live on in her daughter.
