“ Remember those end-of-the-year tests we had to take in school to prove that we're qualified to go to the next grade level? And we had to select our race; Black, White, Native American, or other. I asked my teacher Ms. White which one should I pick and she said black because that's how "they" will see you. She explained that it didn't matter if you are half black, you are 100% black in their eyes. Some would say that's too much to share with an eight-year-old. I did as she instructed, however, when I grew older I became defiant and always selected both white and black or other. I'm almost 40 years old and I fully understand that her intention wasn't to be technically correct or right but realistic. She didn't intend on making me choose sides between claiming my mom or dad. She didn't believe in labels either. She intended to prepare me for the real world, to alert and protect me for what's to come.

I've always shared that story with my partners, friends, and family but 1/12/22 was the first time I reflected on this and truly felt gratitude for her guidance, honesty, and protection. I love Ms. White so much. She remains here with me always. May her light continue to guide and inspire her family and all of those she loved 🙏 My deepest condolences to Kriss and the family. 🌸

“ I had the pleasure of knowing Sheila for over 30 years, how blessed was I to call her my friend. I'm at a loss of words right now which doesn't really happen, but I know she will be missed and I'll miss her calling me LeeLee with a high pitch voice. I love you my friend.

“ What a beautiful service for cousin Shelia! I pray for healing and God’s grace comfort be bestowed upon our family! Every word said about her I know to be true! I enjoyed her company whenever we were together! Her presence in the body will be missed, but her presence is the spirit is eternal and ever present! Time and space doesn’t change love! 🙌

“ Sheila and I worked together at Stone Mountain Elem., and we kept in touch via social media after I moved out of state. Sheila always kept us laughing! She spoke her mind and was a phenomenal educator. I have so many memories of her that I will cherish. I can't believe this is real. But to know she is resting Peacefully in His Arms is what gives me peace. God Bless your family.

“Sheila was the big sister I always wanted. She was our confidant when Buttons and I got in trouble while making sure we were safe and protected. She was an advocate during the sit ins at Wigwam and was a CC conflict manager.

Sheila loved adventure. I remember the days when Sheila, Yvonne, Buttons, Teddy, Hansey, Miya, and I would pack into the red Chevy Nova, with no air conditioning on a 95 degree day and go to VA Beach. We would break our piggy banks and try to scrape together enough money for a few gallons of gas (it was an energy crisis going on and gas prices were high). Sheila taught us to live for the moment and let tomorrow worry about itself.

Sheila could burn in the kitchen too. I remember when we were young and Troy would bring big lawn bags of greens from the country. Sheila taught us how to clean the greens and we would wash them until our fingers were raw to remove the extra protein. One of my last memories of Sheila was when we were in Williamsburg for Christmas. Sheila was cooking a huge pot of greens big enough to feed an army, extended family, and whoever else stopped by. She put a whole stick of butter in the greens- said it would make them tender, and they were some of the best greens I've ever had in my life. She had also taken up the task of making her mom's famous red velvet cake. It was the spitting image. To this day I won't eat anyone else's red velvet cake.

Sheila loved family, blended or extended, it did not matter, and Krissy was the joy of her life. Thank you Sheila for allowing us to be part of your family. We will always remember your dimpled smile that lit any room and brought joy to everyone who was part of your life.

“ She was direct, kind, helpful, lovable and genuine. I was young and she listened and offered wisdom without judgment. This is a tremendous loss. I'm praying for Krissy and everyone because this is devastating. Trying to comfort myself knowing many in heaven are celebrating her arrival. I think of cousin Fran, cousin Troy, cousin Buttons and Brooksie...

Our prayers for comfort in this difficult time to all the family and friends who knew Sheila and loved her laughing, loving life of the party Spirit! Memories of her began at the house on campus at HU and continue thru the latest October birthdays. Our families have always been close, and the stories from sister Cheryl will always define how the history of life with a sibling truly defines love and family. Hold closest those memories of her that make you smile. Anita Brown Catus and Gerard Catus
