“ Sonja, I will miss you doing my hair, and correcting me on pronouncing of your name. It took me 15 years to get it right. I can't believe I saw you at Kroger and then jermiah said you were gone. You were a light in this world. REST IN HEAVEN

“ *We first met in a Club called "Marz" and I recall your footwork and you battling Jason. It was hilarious Jason got Smoked that night, it was priceless & your passion for house Music like none other. Later I was shocked to find out you were related to Pru & your sister was Shawna (good thing) . If someone speaks your name to me my first thought is always Warrior, very few people Get up and Go not matter what. Tears are OK , stumbling is OK, falling is OK but staying down is not. The fight in you!! The will you displayed should be a testimony to us all that being ill is no excuse to be lazy. I salute your hustle. I salute your determination and may God Bless your children to understand the Value of your lessons and their differences. To your Brenda & Sister & Brother's (In laws included hence me saying Brothers) remember our spirits are eternal and although we transition our energy is endless Made in God's Image R.I.P. “ Sonja McLendon was a beautiful woman. Her charisma, style and kindness exuded God's undeniable grace.

As a young woman Sonja spoke positivity into any circumstance, leaving you intrigued and inspired.

My family and I grew up with Sonya and her family on Hawthorne St in Brooklyn N.Y.

My sincere condolences to her family, at this bereaved time, cherish all your memories.

May Sonja rest comfortably in the loving arms of our Heavenly Father 🙏
