“ I remember your sass, and coming from Baltimore we clashed before we clicked but then you were my Boo. I LOVED seeing you in the morning...I knew I could be open & vent about whatever...and we could relate. I was so proud of your grind! I'm gonna miss you. I pray that heaven's angels embrace your presence while God sends comfort to all who will miss you. Until we meet again my friend

“ My sincerest sympathy to Tomichael's spouse n family. My dear T Michael as u were affectionally called by Ealine, you will be greatly miss.Even though i've not seen u for months, this news has hit me so hard. You always had me laughing with ur no-nonsense approach to things. It was such a pleasure working with you. I remember u saying once we should hang out, saddened that will not happen now.U had that goofiness n sillyness about you, the fast talker that made me listen closely to get what u were saying. U will be wholeheartedly miss, but never forgotten. A lot has been learn by this sudden lost. Thank God for the opportunity to have our paths crossed in this life. God Bless your family.Natasha Birch
