“ Mrs. Nessa, I miss you so much. I'm still in so much disbelief that a beautiful soul like you was taken away from us here on earth. Since I met you in November 2019, you've been such a blessing to my life and my family life. You believed in your Jam when she didn't even believe in herself. You've been one of the most supportive health coach and friend to my Aunty Van as she undergoes breast cancer. The love and acceptance we receive from the 4 a.m. spin sisters are so genuine and pure. Aunty Van and I never felt judged or look down upon by anyone on our weight loss journey. After each spin class, we couldn't wait to attend our next session. When the music hit your soul, we didn't have a choice but to "put on ah wukkup," lol. All in all, Mrs. Nessa, I love you, and I'm beyond grateful for the time you spent being apart of my life. May your beautiful and loving soul rest in eternal peace. Love and Miss You Always.

Love Always,

“ Vanessa and I met riding on the express bus from Conyers to downtown Atlanta to catch the train. Both of us being from the V I recognized our cultural talk, she from St Croix and me From St Thomas we talked whenever we saw each other from there on. My deepest sympathy to her family near and far. Be strong. Sleep in Heaven my friend.

“ I remember being transferred and walking into the Augusta store Home Depot store under controversial circumstances in the early 2000's..

Everyone knew of me BUT they didnt know me before i walked into the Augusta Home Depot store..

i was apprehensive walking into this store not knowing what to expect or how the managers and employees would greet me because of me reporting them to home office..

Vanessa was the first person to walk up to me when she heard who i was and who i was there to see, she was by my side from that day forward..

A shining ray of light someone who i considered to be my friend, someone who i ate and shared my lunch with If we were on the same schedule, someone who got to know my family and i hers, someone who came to my home to keep my company, someone who we celebrated Thanksgiving with on many occasions, and sadly someone who has gone home to her Heavenly Father...

Vanessa was that one person who got to know us inside out especially since we are Island sisters..and sadly Vanessa was the one person who i lost contact with after leaving the US and moving to Asia...

But in my heart she was always that one friend who i know for a fact i could call and she would be there in a minute.

Rest easy my friend you certainly will be missed by all...

GOD SPEED!!

“ Such a burst of energy, with a zest for life and helping others. Your giving was a testament to the journey that you took. I was blessed to know you, and "shoot" your class. I am sorry that so many are left to mourn your beautiful spirit. I just know you are going to have the angels and the ancestors whipped into shape as only you can do it. My condolences to the souls that have to remain another day without your early morning work outs and infectious smile

Imani Marley-Husbands - December 04, 2020 at 11:12 AM

Rest in peace in the arms of your loved ones. I keep seeing that beautiful infectious smile.. may the angels carry you safely over where your mom and the rest of the family are anxiously awaiting your arrival.. so continue to sleep in heavenly peace, and until we meet again, sleep on my dear niece in "Heavenly "Peace". My condolences to Jay, and the rest of the family. May God grant them the strength to endure this void in their hearts to the end. First time I saw you it was love at first sight. SIHP.

“ My deepest and sincere condolences to Vanessa's family and friends. I'm praying for peace, comfort, and strength. I grew up with Vanessa in the Virgin Islands we went to the same Church and High School. Vanessa would call me miserable boy all the time :) She would say don't let me tell Sister Jones on you, Gideon. My last interaction with Vanessa a couple of weeks ago. I was hanging out with my oldest daughter for her birthday, Vanessa told me that she knows that I'm a great Dad and she knows I will always take care of my daughters. Vanessa, I love you as a sister and I'm going to miss you :(Rest Easy In Heaven until we meet again. Your Brother Gideon
