“ Momma you know I love you beyond the heavens. I am surely going to miss you. For 55 years you have been a constant fixture in my life that I knew was pure love. Oh and Saturday nights, the house was filled with the aroma of you and Flo cooking Sunday dinner. The collards, baked and fried chicken, macaroni and cheese, cornbread, and your coconut cake. You’d always leave just a little batter for me to set and eat while you were in the kitchen. I’m going to cherish those memories. Then waking up running from room to room watching you on Sunday’s as a child getting ready for church, was magical. The perfection outfit, the perfect shoes and handbag, the perfect lipstick, the perfume, the perfect hat and in your strong yet soft voice saying let’s go so we can be on time. It taught me so many things now that I’m reflecting and reaching back, I’m thinking about those moments and I realize they’ve played an important part of molding me into the woman I am. You were bigger than life to me. You were my grandmother. I thank God for your life and the legacy that you’ve left us. You are definitely going to be missed but what a reception and celebration that’s going on in heaven. Mama and Papa and all 14 of their kids back together again. Dem Respress Girls and Boys. Our family has a lot of Angels watching over us. Until we see each other again, I’ll carry you close in my heart. Love you so much Me-E❤️
